Inquiry Set In Deaths Of 3 Area Miners

By GLENN WAIGHT

Pennsylvania and federal mine inspectors met today at a small Shippingport coal mine to open an investigation into the deaths of two brothers and a youth — the owner's son—who were trapped under an 8-ton slab of soft slate early Thursday afternoon.

Crushed under the collapsed roof, which apparently gave way with little warning, were:

More mine pictures on Page 10.

Jackson Doyle Call, 18, of Shippingport, son of the mine operator, John Call, 41, of Aliquippa R. D.

Frank Elwood Haskiell, 27, formerly of Newburg, W. Va., who had been staying at a building at the mine.

Dale Haskiell, 21, of Pulaski Homes near New Brighton, also from Newburg.

The younger Haskiell was working in the mine on his day off yesterday from his job at the Phoenix Glass Co. at Monaca.

Teams of Shippingport area miners dug into the debris of the cave-in, about 30 yards from the mouth of the hillside entry, from 12:30 yesterday afternoon until shortly before 7 when the last body—that of the older Haskiell—was freed.

All three died almost instantly of crushed chests and suffocation, according to James J. Darroch of Aliquippa, deputy Beaver County coroner.

Called immediately to the scene were Dr. Charles Evans and the Welch Funeral Home ambulance from Hookstown, but the rescue workers believed almost from the first the trapped trio were dead.

The mine is located in a valley about a third of a mile off Route 168, almost midway between Hookstown and Shippingport.

John Call said he had left the mine about 10:15 a. m. to haul a load of slate to Kobuta, and the two Haskiells were working at the face of the entry while his son was pushing cars on the tipple outside.

Call said he returned about 12:15 to find a large section of "soapstone" had fallen and only a dim miner's lamp showing inside the entry way. In sickened dread he went to the nearby home of George Banas, a miner who had helped open the new entry a few months ago, and they returned to the mine.

The Dow-Lin Coal Co. mine near Hookstown was notified along with the Shippingport Sand & Gravel Co., and workers hurried to the site to begin efforts to clear the tunnel.

The rock section which lay on the men was about 3 feet or more thick and covered an area of 15 by 25 feet — only a part of a larger section which had collapsed. The area the men were working in was to the left of the tunnel where they had cleared a space along the face of the coal seam.

About 10 feet from the face was a loaded coal car. The body of young Call was found on his side not far from the car and near the edge of the slab. His blue corduroy jacket was the first sign of the men the rescue teams found, and his was the first body removed, about 4:50 p. m.

Dale Haskiell was found on his back, under the middle area of the slab, and his body was taken out about 5:30.

The older Haskiell was found doubled up along the face of the coal, a shovel across his waist.

About 60 area residents, miners, newspapermen, police and volunteer firemen looked on in the drizzling darkness as the last body was brought out on a stretcher by miners, their tired, grimy faces caught in the glare of floodlights. They were taken to three funeral homes.

Stocky Paul Rohm of Shippingport, mine foreman at Dow-Lin, was among those who directed the workers to work on the slab with picks and shovels, then erect support timbers to get at the bodies.

Only about three men could work in the cramped area at the cave-in, digging, shoring up the roof and then placing jacks to raise the large rock section.

Special care was taken to support the dripping roof which the workers considered dangerous. One man pointed out the next ridge to the south was safe to work under but the hill in which the Call mine is located has strata of the soft slate which slips without warning.

Yellow-leafed maples and scarlet oaks stand on the hillside over the entrance of the mine, which is about 4½ feet high and about 12 feet wide.

Those standing around the opening and among the mine buildings and tipple spoke in hushed tones and the cawing of crows could be heard clearly from the hillside to the south.

Call sat on a log near the mine building, seemingly numbed with the shock of the tragedy, and later the wife of Dale Haskiell, expecting a child, was brought to the scene. She became hysterical and had to be calmed.

About 2:30 Rohm came out and reported the men had uncovered the sleeve of one. Asked if the physician should be recalled, he replied, "I don't know what to tell you at a time like this, but I don't think so."

Rohm said there was a fairly good circulation of natural air in

91 STILL TRAPPED IN CANADIAN MINE

One Known Dead As 80 Reach Safety

Hopes For Rescue In Nova Scotia Pit Fading Each Hour

SPRINGHILL, N.S. (AP) — A violent shift of rock in the depths of a coal mine today trapped 91 men, six of them supervisors. Hope of rescue grew dimmer by the hour.

Eighty miners had reached safety. One body was recovered. A company spokesman belatedly announced that six supervisors were with 85 men still trapped hours after tons of rock and coal had tumbled down from tunnel roofs, choking the passageways.

After talking with the rescued men, Arnold Patterson, a coal company spokesman, said:

"The situation is not encouraging. It looks pretty grim. We are hopeful, of course."

A company official said a barrier of gas prevented rescue crew from reaching 55 of the men who had been working 13,000 feet from the pithead. The others were believed scattered in other parts of the mine.

Through the night and into the morning, survivors trickled out of the mine portal and through lines of waiting, anxious relatives.

Some of the survivors were injured and had to be helped or carried out by rescue crews.

A silent crowd shivered in a cold drizzle through the night as five-man teams of draegermen—volunteer mine rescue workers — cleared rock and debris from dust-choked tunnels.

The draegermen wore respirators. One of the first survivors to come out said the "bump"—the miners' name for underground rock shifts of explosive force — had smashed the mine ventilation system and pockets of deadly gas were forming.

The mine is the No. 2 colliery of the Cumberland Railway and Coal Co., a subsidiary of the Dominion Steel and Coal Corp. Cumberland No. 2 adjoins the now-closed Cumberland No. 4, where an explosion and gas killed 39 persons in November 1956.

The worst mine accident in this town of 7,000 near the New Brunswick border was an explosion in 1891 that killed 125. Canada's worst mine disaster was at Hillcrest, Alta., in 1941, when 193 were killed.

The bump occurred at 8:05 p.m. Dishes tumbled from shelves in Springhill and houses also shook 14 miles away in Maccan. Veteran miners called it the worst in memory. Six smaller bumps between last March and Sept. 1

Red Cannons Break Lull, Rip Quemoy

Nationalists Hit Back With Howitzers And Other Artillery

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — The Chinese Communists resumed their artillery attacks on the Quemoy islands today after an unexplained 23-hour lull.

The Nationalists, equipped with eight-inch howitzers and other guns brought in during the two-week-cease-fire, hit back.

The Red guns, silent since noon Thursday, started blazing again at 11 a.m.

The Communists first directed their fire against Little Quemoy and the nearby Tan islets, then extended it to Quemoy, largest fortress of the Nationalist offshore islands.

The Red shelling was comparatively light during the first two hours after it resumed. A total of 906 rounds were fired, most of them directed at the Tan islets. The volume of Nationalist counterfire was not disclosed.

Associated Press correspondent David Lancashire reported from Quemoy that with the halt in the Red attack Thursday, Quemoy City had come to life for the first time since the cease-fire ended Monday.

Shops opened and streets filled with civilians and soldiers.

Finlay Enters Report On Tax

Obeys Court Order, Avoids $50 Fine

Complying with an alternative given him Oct. 16 by Municipal Judge George L. Brokaw, Larry Finlay, 709 Sophia St., filed an estimate of his 1958 income with the city income tax department today, escaping a $50 fine.

Finlay, a potter and operator of a neighborhood grocery on Minerva St., was convicted of failing to file the tax estimate. Judge Brokaw fined him $50 and costs, but said the fine would be suspended if Finlay submitted the estimate within 10 days.

Meanwhile, another prospective taxpayer ordered to report in Municipal Court Saturday filed a tax declaration this morning.

He is Robert Anderson, 1013 Monaca St., one of three against whom charges were filed Tuesday afternoon by Frank Blakeley, supervisor of the tax office.

An estimate was filed earlier by another defendant, Leslie Bell, 1232 Chaffin St. No report had been filed as of this morning by the third defendant, William F. Azdell, of Harding Ave., the tax office said.

Navy To Evacuate 55 Americans In Cuba

HAVANA (AP) — A U.S. Navy transport sails from Guantanamo Bay today to evacuate about 55 American women and children from an area of eastern Cuba controlled by Fidel Castro's rebels.

The State Department ordered the evacuation. One official said, "We're damned sick and tired of having Americans kidnaped."

The 55 dependents will be removed from Nicaro, where about 25 American men work at a nickel plant owned by the U.S. government.

The rebels kidnaped two American men and seven Cubans Monday from a Texaco refinery near Santiago, capital of Oriente Province.

Time Switch Slated Sunday As DST Ends

The "time of confusion" ends Sunday when communities still on Daylight Saving Time will return to Eastern Standard Time.

Wellsville, Salineville, Irondale and some school districts went back to the slow time Sept. 28 but all other communities in the Tri-State District remained on the fast time for this month.

Virtually all Ohio Valley towns and most cities in the Eastern States fast time belt will make the switch this weekend.

The change means residents will regain that hour of sleep they lost when summer time began last April.

Clocks should be turned back an hour.

While the change occurs officially at 2 a. m. Sunday, residents will follow the usual practice of resetting the clocks before retiring Saturday night.

There may be less confusion next year—many communities are agitating for the end of DST in September instead of October.

School authorities, in East Liverpool and other county communities, have urged the briefer observance of fast time because of near darkness and fog that poses a danger for children and school buses in the forenoon.

City Council promised a survey will be made of the district communities' position in the time dispute before next September.

Northern Lights, Stars Shooting, Sputnik Next

Never a dull moment — in the skies over East Liverpool.

Early-risers enjoyed a startling display of Northern Lights about 5 a. m., with an occasional shooting star adding color to the astral pyrotechnics.

Residents said the lights were orange and yellow with an occasional ribbon of red and green. They lasted about an hour.

Triple Crash Driver Cited

Newell Area Woman Due Hearing Today

A woman motorist from near Newell was cited by Hancock County sheriff's deputies on a charge of failing to have her vehicle under control as the aftermath of a three-car collision early today on Washington St. in Newell.

Nancy Freeland, 21, of the Congo Rd., was to face a hearing this afternoon before Squire Arley White of Newell. She lost control of her 1952 auto at 6:50 a. m. on Washington St. and struck two other cars operated by East Liverpool drivers.

Deputies said the woman was driving north on Route 66 when she hit the car of John Moore, 58, of LaCroft, as he was parking, and then re-bounded into the path of a 1952 car heading south and driven by George Cochran, 60, of Calcutta.

None of the drivers was injured but heavy damage resulted to the autos, deputies said.

Deputies also reported a 1952 station wagon driven by Mrs. Alveris Maye Haynes, 38, of Jefferson St. Ext. struck the guardrails on Route 66 near the Newell bridge at 9 a. m. Damage to the vehicle was estimated at $400.

Deputies said she had reached for a child riding beside her and lost control of the vehicle. Another child was a passenger but neither was hurt. Mrs. Haynes suffered a bump of the head and was to be checked by her physician.

Reds Return 3 Britons, Chinese After Capture

HONG KONG (AP) — Three Britons and a Chinese, captured by Chinese Communists two months ago while on a weekend pleasure cruise in a converted lifeboat, were returned without advance notice today.

The men were R. P. Brown, L. E. Jones, N. McQueen and Chu Yiu-kin.

Weeks Quits, Strauss Will Fill His Post

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Commerce Sinclair Weeks resigned today, and Adm. Lewis L. Strauss was named to succeed him in the Cabinet.

The White House announced that:

1. Weeks has tendered his resignation to be effective not later than Nov. 10 because of "pressing business, personal and family considerations" which he said made his return to Boston imperative.

2. President Eisenhower is making a recess appointment of Strauss, 62, who has been assistant to the President on peaceful uses of atomic energy since his recent retirement from the chairmanship of the Atomic Energy Commission.

An exchange of letters between Weeks and the President was made public.

Weeks' letter dated Oct. 22, tendered his resignation. He recalled that he had conversed with Eisenhower on his departure several times and assured Eisenhower that in the future "if I can serve you in any way, you have only to call upon me."

Ike Hit On Integration

Nixon Takes GOP Bid To Wisconsin

By The Associated Press

Vice President Nixon shifts his campaign for a Republican Congress to Wisconsin today amid renewed Democratic charges that President Eisenhower has shirked leadership in the school integration controversy.

Nixon prepared to leave New York after a breakfast meeting with Nelson Rockefeller, Republican candidate for New York's governorship.

Ignoring a snub by Rockefeller earlier Thursday night, Nixon went out of his way in a television talk to praise Rockefeller as an able administrator who offers New York "dynamic leadership."

Rockefeller's bid for liberal support in his close race with Democratic Gov. Averell Harriman has caused him to regard Nixon's New York campaigning as something of a liability. He wouldn't attend a dinner with the Vice President but went instead to another meeting.

Meanwhile, former President Harry S. Truman accused Eisenhower of sidestepping a "moral responsibility" to back up the Supreme Court's school integration ruling.

The result, Truman told a Democrat fund-raising dinner in Boston, was a wave of violence by "crackpots and extremists."

"For three years," Truman said "the administration stood aside, while the opposition in some parts of the country gathered its strength.

"Only when there was outright defiance of the courts by a sov-

Atomic Sub Admiral Receives Promotion

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rear Adm. Hyman Rickover, pioneer in the atomic submarine field, is getting the promotion his congressional backers have demanded.

The White House announced that Rickover has been upped to vice admiral, subject to Senate approval next year. His new three-star rank is to be effective while Rickover heads the Atomic Energy Commission's naval reactors branch.

Credited with fostering the nation's first nuclear submarine, Rickover has been a center of controversy from time to time during his career. Some of this controversy has stemmed from his reported readiness to brush aside Navy red tape in order to further the nuclear sub program.

Notices Given Voting Staffs

1,208 To Man Polls For Nov. 4 Election

The Columbiana County Election Board mailed notices today to the 1,208 men and women who will staff its 151 princinct polling places for the Nov. 4 general election.

There are 906 regular appointees —three from each major party—who will work throughout the day and 302 extra workers who will report at 6 p. m. on election day to help with the tabulation of returns, Frank R. O'Hanlon, clerk, explained.

The 302 extra workers also will be divided equally between the two major parties, O'Hanlon said. A Republican and a Democrat will be assigned to each polling place to assist the regular staff of six.

The additional workers were named because of the large number of ballots that will be used in the fall voting, plus the fact a large turnout is expected, O'Hanlon explained. In some precincts, as many as eight or nine ballots will be used, he said.

East Liverpool voters will be given six ballots: The office type ticket listing state, county and district nominees; the non-partisan judicial ballot; a ticket listing the state "right-to-work" and metropolitan federal amendments; another ballot with the county's $125,000 bond issue for a juvenile re-

Soviet Loan Due UAR On Aswan Dam

$100 Million Due For Nasser's Dream Project On The Nile

CAIRO (AP) — The Soviet Union has agreed to lend the United Arab Republic 400 million rubles worth of materials and equipment to start Gamal Abdel Nasser's dream dam at Aswan on the Nile.

The credit, amounting to 100 million dollars by Soviet reckoning, was seen by some diplomats here today as the clincher in Moscow's economic penetration of the Middle East. It may mean Nasser has finally turned his back on the West, giving up any idea of serious economic cooperation or reconciliation with Western powers.

The United States, Britain and the World Bank three years ago had offered to lend Egypt 270 million dollars for the $1,300,000,000 dam in southern Egypt. Secretary of State Dulles abruptly withdrew the offer a year later after Egypt started buying arms from the Soviet bloc. Nasser in retaliation nationalized the Suez Canal.

The Soviet credit, announced by Premier Khrushchev in Moscow Thursday night, does not mean that the last hurdle to the starting of work on the vast project has been cleared.

The proposed dam 600 miles south of Cairo would flood miles of territory across the border in Sudan and would displace at least 50,000 Sudanese. The Sudan government, through whose territory the Nile flows before it reaches Egypt, has not agreed to this new use of the waters, and Sudan has a plan of its own for a system of dams farther south to develop thousands of acres of cotton land.

If Egypt goes ahead with the Aswan project without Sudan's consent, a new international crisis could be touched off.

The Soviet credit marks a turn in policy by both Nasser and Khrushchev. Before the Western powers canceled their offer of financing the Soviet Union was reported to have offered to help build the dam. Later the Russians announced they were not interested, preferring to help with projects which would show more immediate results.

When he nationalized the Suez Canal, Nasser declared Egypt would build the dam from her own resources and would use the revenue from the canal for the necessary foreign exchange.

The dam would be 300 feet high, three miles long and would create the world's largest man-made lake. It would irrigate 1,400,000 parched acres, increasing Egypt's cultivated area by 16 per cent, and would produce 10 billion kilowatts of electricity annually to pump water, light homes and turn factory wheels. It would take about 18 years to complete.

Dulles Report Due For Ike On Formosa

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles reports to President Eisenhower today on the prospects for war or peace which he found during a three-day conference on Formosa.

The answer, he told newsmen, is "up to the Communists, who are aggressive." He added: "I cannot read their minds.

Landing here shortly after midnight, Dulles said in a brief airport statement that his consultations with Nationalist Chinese President Chiang Kai-shek had been "eminently satisfactory."

He praised the Chinese Nationalists as being among this country's staunch allies without which, he said, the United States would be in a desperate position of Communist encirclement.

Dulles was reported by informed officials to have obtained from Chiang a conditional promise to cut his forces on the Quemoy and Matsu islands. The conditions were that he get more modern weapons and that the Chinese Communists institute a long-term cease-fire.

Dulles himself declined to discuss the reports.

The Red Chinese have refused thus far to make any agreement regarding a halt to their artillery barrages on Quemoy, the Nationalist-held island just off the China mainland.

There was short-lived speculation the Quemoy war might be entering an unproclaimed ceasefire when Communist guns remained silent Thursday. However, Taipei dispatches said shelling resumed today.

Earlier statements—one by Dulles in a British television interview and the other a joint Dulles-Chiang communique on their three-day conference — also stressed that the United States and its Nationalist Chinese allies will not start a fight.

"We are not going to attack or tolerate attacks against the Chinese Communists," Dulles said in the TV interview. "But when they attack then I think we have to stand firm."

The strike followed breakdown of negotiations on a new contract. Eaton divisions in Marion, Ohio, and Massillon, Ohio, were not affected by the strike.

Street Department To Pick Up Leaves If Stacked At Curb

The street department will pick up and dispose of fallen leaves if they're piled at the curb or in the gutter by householders, Safety - Service Director Dan Maggianetti said today.

The major share of the job will be done by the city's mechanical street sweeper, which will be in service again in a few days after a breakdown, the director said. Parts have been received from a California manufacturer to replace a damaged front wheel on the sweeper, Maggianetti said.

Householders should not attempt to burn leaves, particulary on blacktop streets, as the heat will damage the pavement, the director said. Burning leaves at any site pose a fire threat, he added.

The director also warned youngsters not to "bury" themselves in piles of leaves left in the street for pickup because of the danger they may be run over by an auto.

Endorsements On County Candidates

A state representative, a Common Pleas Court judge, two commissioners, an auditor and a court clerk are among those to be elected in countywide balloting Nov. 4.

In some races, voters are fortunate in having capable candidates from whom to choose on both tickets. In others, the choice seems clearcut.

After careful consideration, The Review makes the following recommendations:

COMMON PLEAS JUDGE

Joel H. Sharp of Salem is asking a fourth term on the nonpartisan judicial ballot. His opponent is Robert S. Hartford of East Palestine.

Mr. Sharp has performed his duties in a manner befitting the post. He has been a good judge.

Mr. Hartford was endorsed by The Review when he was an unsuccessful candidate for county prosecutor two years ago, but in this case, in our opinion, doesn't measure up to Mr. Sharp, who we support for another term.

STATE REPRESENTATIVE

Clarence L. Wetzel, a Republican, is opposed by John F. Kelly, a Democrat. Both reside in Lisbon.

Mr. Wetzel is seeking a fifth term. Mr. Kelly, business agent for plumbers', steamfitters' and construction workers' groups, is making his first bid for the post.

Mr. Wetzel has represented the county well at Columbus. We see no reason for a change now.

AUDITOR

A veteran incumbent and a promising newcomer to county politics are contesting for the post.

They are the present auditor, I. J. Vorndran of East Liverpool, seeking a fifth term on the Republican ticket, and Kenneth Bell of Wellsville, a Democrat, now serving as clerk of Council.

Mr. Bell has conducted a vigorous campaign and has demonstrated an intense interest in county government.

While his political star appears to be on the rise, Mr. Vorndran's thorough knowledge of the auditor's office makes him the logical choice to remain at the post.

COMMISSIONER (FULL TERM)

The Republican incumbent, Galen H. Greenisen of near Salem, has been an outstanding commissioner.

He has been constantly alert to the demands of the office and has placed the interests of the county as a whole above sectional pressures.

His opponent is Councilman Frank C. Wilson of Wellsville, a Democrat, who operates a food store.

Mr. Wilson's qualifications do not appear equal to those of Mr. Greenisen's. The incumbent should be returned by an overwhelming majority.

COMMISSIONER (UNEXPIRED TERM)

Richard G. Brian of East Liverpool, a Republican who now holds the office, is opposed by Democrat R. Max Gard of near Lisbon.

Mr. Brian was named a commissioner early in 1957 to succeed W. A. Southan of East Liverpool, who resigned to take a post in the O'Neill administration.

Mr. Gard, an antique dealer and historian, is no stranger to the county and its needs and conceivably could make a good commissioner.

However — although The Review did not endorse him previously — Mr. Brian's newly - gained experience in the office and the fact that this end of the county deserves representation in the commissioners' office bring him the recommendation for the position.

CLERK OF COURTS

Two capable candidates are contesting for the post. They are John W. Peterson of East Palestine, the Republican incumbent, and Carl L. Stacey, Democrat of Columbiana.

Mr. Peterson had served 18 years as chief deputy in the office before being named court clerk early this year to succeed the late John W. Coleman.

Mr. Stacey is the son of Carl Stacey, a member of the county Election Board and long a prominent figure in Democratic political circles. Young Stacey is another of the newcomers with a bright future.

This is another case, however, where experience properly channeled seems to be preferred. We endorse Mr. Peterson.

No Touch-Me-Nots In America

There is one statement no spokesman for any union should make in the debate over compulsory unionism in Ohio.

It is the statement that outsiders have no right to butt into union business—that unions have become untouchable.

This is the same mistake made more than a half century ago by trusts and monopolies when "outsiders" were told to keep their noses out of things that did not concern them.

It was a challenge to representative democracy to prove to the then arrogant combines which were assuming the right to run things to suit themselves that they were subject to law, like everybody else.

It was a particular challenge to small business to prove it could not be trampled underfoot by mere bigness. Theodore Roosevelt, whose centennial now is being celebrated, sensed the political dynamite in the issue and made "trust-busting" the climax of his public career.

When it was all over, Congress had demonstrated that big business could be curbed by the sovereign power of the American people.

The laws passed were no nearer perfect than the laws now coming into nationwide discussion to curb big unionism. Indeed it was said about them when they were proposed and debated—and it can still be said about them now—that they were "trick-titled" and hampered by "quirks." To this day, it is open for discussion whether the Sherman Act and the Clayton Act were well thought out.

They are still resented by big business. They are still resisted. There is still a credo in big business circles that government should not concern itself with things that are none of its business.

But in this country, no one can get away with brazen defiance of the sovereign people's right to look after their welfare.

There are no touch-me-nots in a free society.

UNION SPOKESMEN never have shown any reluctance to press for government action against others, when they thought it was needed. They have been so active in taking sides that it lately has been a question whether their expanding influence can be balanced by a similar degree of activity among those who can be harmed by the undue influence of the union minority.

For unionists to take the attitude that "outsiders" should mind their own business and not try to use government to correct abuses is a brazen affront to the American people's sense of fair play.

Big business, big unionism—there is no difference.

Nothing in this country ever can get so big it cannot be held answerable to popular sovereignty.

The truth is that big business and big unionism have much in common. Being big, they find it both easy and natural to get their heads together in big deals. They understand each other.

THE STEAM in the fight to ban compulsory unionism has come from small business and individuals—not the big boys. It has come from the American instinct to seek a margin of security against any threat of power that shows signs of growing too big to handle.

Labor unionism, like everything else in the United States, can be held answerable to the public whose sanction makes it possible.

There are no touch-me-nots in representative democracy. Those who make the mistake of proclaiming they feel themselves to be above the law are challenging the American people to prove the contrary.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Edward R. Murrow has a three-way intercontinental interview with Marshal Montgomery, Casey Stengel and Mrs. Roosevelt:

Murrow—Hello Marshal Montgomery. How are you feeling?

Monty—I just won the World War and you know how that peps one up.

Mrs. R.—As I was saying, we must learn to play ball with the Russians.

Casey—If I meet 'em, I'll know how to play 'em.

Murrow—Where are you, Mrs. Roosevelt?

Mrs. R.—I'm in Afghanistan.

Murrow—Sorry, that's not far enough away. We must be talking on crossed wires. Marshal Montgomery is first on my list.

Casey—I have my lineup and you have yours.

Monty—Who are those other two people?

Murrow—One is Casey Stengel who won the World Series and . . . .

Monty—If he had used my master plan he would have won earlier and with less loss.

Murrow—These three-cornered global TV interviews can go haywire. Won't you please come in one at a time?

Casey—I'm moving myself up in the batting order.

A Voice—Hello Ed. This is Winnie.

Murrow—But Mr. Churchill, you're not on until next week. Monty, where are you?

Monty—I'm now on the outskirts of Berlin and will capture it in my next installment singlehanded.

Voice—This is Nehru speaking.

Murrow—You were on two weeks ago.

Nehru—Why wasn't I told?

Voice—Hello Ed. This is Aly Khan in my New York apartment.

Murrow—Sorry, but it's my rule not to talk to anybody that close.

Nixon Decided To Be Life Of Party

By Victor Riesel

It was Dick Nixon himself who decided to be the life of his party. Just about one month ago he read a series of short memoirs from national Republican strategists. He spoke to some of them personally. Their terse reports rang with gloom. They said that they expected to lose 40 seats in the House and perhaps 15 in the Senate.

Victor Riesel

Dick Nixon reached for his private phone. He talked to party leaders. He consulted his own chief. He was ready to take responsibility for a "hit-and-run" policy.

Someone observed that the GOP had to hit hard in 1958 so it could really run in 1960. The vice president's strategy was aimed at discovering where there was life left in the Republican Party's precinct units. He decided he could take the pulse in only one fashion—his own. He would hit hard at the opposition—the combination of Democrats and their labor allies—with a sharp attack.

WHILE THE opposition hurled back angry retorts he would lash out in another direction with sharper, more controversial political assaults. Then in a third direction. And so on through what's left of the campaign.

From this strategy Nixon expects twin reactions—he hopes to cut into the Democratic vote and, at the same time, get a sort of political Geiger count of what's still functioning smoothly in the Republican machinery. Then he'll know what areas to hit with revivalist tent speeches.

What has not yet been decided inside the Nixon sanctum is how to tackle the leaders of 150 politically active national unions.

Most of all the vice president reportedly would love to clash personally with Walter Reuther. But no one has quite figured out how this can be done.

TRUE, the United Automobile Workers' political machine is piledriving in this campaign, but it is operating much more quietly than in previous years. Ruther and his colleagues in the UAW's high command are not planning any spectacular political rallies.

They have been speaking—but primarily to their own locals. They have been campaigning in print—but through the million copies of their newspaper, "Solidarity." The union still has its 40 outlets for radio broadcasts—and one TV show. But its most effective political campaigning is being done through the old CIO regional councils.

It is through these councils and their political acton groups that the UAW's campagn director, Roy Reuther, is working. To date the most dramatic of the Auto Union techniques are day long visits to unemployment insurance headquarters.

In New Jersey, for example, the auto unionists have turned out at 8 a.m. at the Garden State's 25 centers. The members pass out literature—and hope to reach at least 147,000 jobless pay recipients with broadsides endorsing the Democratic ticket.

THERE'S A POWERFUL Republican political machine in Jersey—and Dick Nixon wants to activate it to neutralize the labor campaign. For it was the brief written accounts of the labor drive which nettled the vice president when he learned that there was no real counter drive.

What also startled him and a handful of his intimates were other reports coming out of Vermont and Idaho. Some of these said bluntly that the 100-year-old Republican fortress in the Green Mountains would be taken by the Democratic-labor combine.

Typical, too, in addition to the small, quiet but hard-working labor force in Vermont, is the labor drive in Idaho. There the Republicans have had little difficulty in winning since 1952.

But now, scores of women are stuffing envelopes instead of potatoes. These are the women organized by the small but effective AFL State Federation of Labor. In the past few weeks, they've sent out over 77,000 pieces of literature. Not just to the city and factory folk, but to the rural districts, too.

TO NIXON'S people the political arithmetic looked bad. President Eisenhower won by some 61,000 votes last time. A switch of 31,000 would be enough to beat even Ike. But far fewer votes will be cast this year, so it would take less for the Democratic-labor alliance to win.

That's why Nixon decided on the "hit-and-run" tactics. His party cannot afford to lose states like Idaho and Vermont. He feels that if the GOP isn't "shook up" in 1958, it will be "beat" in 1960.

Oil Boom For Egypt

By Charles P. Arnot

CAIRO

The rugged Sinai Peninsula, only two years ago scene of vast war damage, is showing promise today of providing Egypt with a modest oil boom.

There are official predictions that within two years Egypt will be self - sufficient in oil production and may possibly become an oil exporter.

The new hopes center along the Gulf of Suez and the Red Sea, where strikes in the Ras Dakr field indicate Egyptian crude oil production may be increased by nearly a million tons a year.

ONE WELL alone at a coastal station called Aru Rouess promises annual production of 150,000 tons. At least a dozen new wells are being drilled along the Sinai coast south of Port Suez.

Egypt now produces some 2,250,000 tons of oil a year or about two-thirds of the country's annual consumption. A strike in the long-probed western desert northwest of Cairo would send export prospects soaring.

Only a few years ago, the Egyptian oil outlook was depressing. Two oilfields on the western shore of the Gulf of Suez were tapering off and no new strikes had been recorded.

For years, the Sinai Peninsula has been identified for its great potential mineral wealth, most of which still remains to be discovered. Though several oil "seepages" were found, the area long proved a disappointment after drilling began in 1911.

Over a 40-year period when hundreds of thousands of dollars were poured into more than 150 exploration wells, only five oil strikes were registered. Then in 1946, the Anglo - Egyptian Oilfields Co. and the Socony Vacuum Oil Co. of Egypt combined operations to hit the first commercial well 30 miles south of Suez. There were other strikes in 1947 and 1954.

THE FIRST SINAI discoveries in the area now showing the greatest promise were made by Standard Oil of New Jersey, but the American company later withdrew due to difficulties with Egyptian legislation requiring 51 per cent Egyptian shareholding.

After a series of ownership transfers involving Egyptian, Swiss, United States, Belgian and Italian interests, the concern now in charge finally emerged as the Compagnie Orientale les Petroles D'Egypte. Forty - nine per cent of the shares are Egyptian held, 29 per cent by the Egyptian government.

The remaining 51 per cent are in the hands of AGIP, the Italian state oil entity. The majority of the technicians, up to managerial level, are Italian. About 40 of them, plus 140 Egyptian staff and 800 laborers, are now at work in the Sinai.

Investment of foreign capital in the Sinai projects to date is estimated at well over 30 million dollars. Italy now gets about 50,000 tons of oil a month from the Sinai fields.

THE PICTURE is different in the western desert where the American - owned Sahara Oil Co. has for the last four years been conducting what it calls "the most intensive and extensive single oil search ever undertaken anywhere."

Owned by four American companies, Sahara is exploring and drilling 90,000 square miles on a 30-year concession, and so far has spent about 40 million dollars. Sahara officials still seem convinced that oil exists in this area and plan to continue drilling.

Letter To The Editor

A Reader Takes Issue With Three Articles

On Tuesday, Oct. 14, you published an editorial saying that you favored the individual's rights and that no citizen of Ohio should be forced to join anything or pay into anything against his or her will.

On Wednesday, Oct. 15, you published an editorial most of which referred to Sen. Bricker. In that editorial you made it plain to be seen that Bricker is out to "hamstring" the unions, although you were very careful not to mention the fact that you wanted everyone to vote in favor of the so - called "Right-to-Work Amendment" to help Bricker do his "hamstringing". You may just as well have mentioned it for everyone knows that you meant as much.

Then on Friday, Oct. 17, you published an advertisement by the Ohio Right-to-Work commission in which its claims were that the so-called "Right - to - Work Amendment" would not harm unions; on the contrary it would benefit by it.

I HAVE NOW mentioned three articles published in the Review. Now I want to take the opportunity to point out a few things that are disgustingly interesting about each.

In the first article you say that you are out to preserve the rights of the individual. To this I say "Phooey". Every adult citizen in the community can well remember a few short months ago when Mayor Lawrence "bamboozled" the members of City Council into an emergency session.

The purpose of said emergency session as we too well know was to impose a new tax. The tax law was passed unanimously, even though to many that law meant taxation without representation, which is entirely unconstitutional. It is certainly within the rights of the individual to have a vote on such laws.

If the Review is so interested in the rights of individuals, then why do they not burst forth with editorials against such shady deals as the tax law. It is very apparent that you forgot to say that your interest in the rights of the individual was limited to the rights of the individual "big shot and politician."

Then who is interested in the rights of the little man and the working man? In case you don't know, I will be kind enough to tell you that it is the labor union.

Thanks to the petitions of the Trades and Labor Council, the individual can exercise his right to vote on said tax law come Nov. 4. But thanks be to someone who would mislead you if possible. The ballot will be so written that "No" will mean Yes and "Yes" will mean No, so be careful how you mark it. One thing more about the tax law.

I have been told that Mayor Lawrence and Director Magianetti, along with a few more of their associates, have been taking up PTA time at the schools with their political propaganda. If this is true, then all I can say is that it reminds me of an age-old saying about taking candy away from a baby. Anyone that would do such a thing is pretty lowdown. Parent-teacher associations are intended to be a group meeting of parents and teachers to exchange views on what ever difficulties that may have arisen in that particular school.

In other words, a PTA meeting is held exclusively for the welfare of the pupils and the school. It is certainly not for a politician to stand up and blow his "bazoo" of propaganda. I wonder what happened to the city School Board that they allow such things to take place, especially without charge, since it is the taxpayers' money that has to keep up the schools and pay the electric bill.

AS FOR your editorial of Oct. 15. You stated that Bricker was "running scared" in his race for re-election. "Now that is just too bad." The fact is that as long as a man does nothing amiss he has no need to be scared. So to admit that he is scared is to admit that his conscience bothers him.

But I must give him a little credit, at least he is man enough to admit that he is out to wreck the union. He is like a lot of other politicians in the state of Ohio. He knows that organized labor is now strong enough that he and his associates can no longer pull dirty deals on the working class of people without meeting strong opposition. "And they just don't like it." But as I said before Bricker is the only one I have heard of as yet who is man enough to admit that he is out to wreck the union, yet you are all working together.

When I say all, I mean the National Association of Manufacturers, the Chamber of Commerce, and the majority of politicians now holding office in the state of Ohio. This same group opposed social security, old-age pension, paid holidays, paid vacations to the working man. In fact, they oppose everything that will in any way benefit the working class of people.

I listened to the late Sen. Taft make a speech one day in which he said, and I quote, "There is not a working man in the United States who is worth more than five dollars a day." End of quote. It is very apparent that his successor would like to cut that figure in half at least. And no doubt he will try to if he can just succeed in his try to wreck the Union.

AND NOW about the political advertisement which you published Friday, Oct. 17. It is the "real snake in the grass".

The author in this case must think that the working class of people are terribly dumb. He would like us to believe that we could cut our own throat and instead of bleeding to death we would wake up the next morning with a wreath of one thousand dollar bills around our neck.

Compare this author with Bricker. They are both out to achieve the same goal, yet Bricker is man enough to admit what he wants while this guy is just plain "two-faced".

And now let's sum up this whole story and compare it with a true story that was written many hundred years ago. A story the truth of which no man can deny.

In the King James version of the Holy Bible and in the Old Testament, I read of a king. This king took great pride in making rules and enforcing them just as do our rulers of today. Had any of the citizens of his kingdom tried to tell him what to do it would have no doubt cost them their head.

But one night when this kind was holding what we would term as a wild party for a bunch of his cronies and after the party had gotten plenty wild there appeared a man's hand, which wrote a message on the wall. Now the account says that King Belshazzar could not read the message, but his conscience must have told him that it meant his doom. For the story says that he became so scared that his knees smote one against the other.

So I believe that the aforementioned group — namely the NAM, the Chamber of Commerce, and many of the politicians in the state of Ohio are beginning to see the handwriting on the wall, and they don't like it.

Mr. Editor you mentioned the fact that Bricker was running scared. But the truth be known, I will gamble that there are a lot of knees other than Brickers that are beginning to rattle just a little.

Here in Ohio back in the years before organized laboor, the working man and the farmer were looked down on as a "bum and a hick".

So vote "No" on Issue 2 Nov. 4 and save the working man and the farmer from again becoming a "bum and a hick".

Space Trouble Ahead

By Wambly Bald

NEW YORK — Building or, for that matter, on the Kremlin.

There's trouble ahead - space trouble — unless international controls are established for guided missiles, earth satellites and moon probers.

That's the contention of Andrew G. Haley, a leading authority on space law who has often been referred to as "Haley's Comet" because of his extensive travel and participation in international programs dealing with space problems.

Demanding that the United Nations start doing something for "law and order" in outer space, his first argument is for the safety of earthbound people.

"WE'RE GETTING the rockets up, but what about their coming down?" asks Haley.

"At the present time, neither the United States nor Russia has provided mechanical safety controls for the protection of life and property on the return trip to earth. Anybody can get hit!"

Haley, president of the Missiles-Jets & Automation Fund for the Development of Interplanetary Projects, warns that satellites returning to earth do not render themselves harmless by atomizing in the atmosphere.

"They come down in big chunks of metal, at present absolutely uncontrolled," he said. "And there is no assurance that these chunks couldn't prove to be a lethal metalic rain on the Empire State

"AT PRESENT the chances of being hit may be called negligible, but they keep increasing. Within the coming year the United States and Russia each will have about 75 satellites in orbit. The Chinese will have about a dozen and Great Britain about 20. Why doesn't the U.N. get out of its ostrichlike attitude and take some action?"

Haley, whose articles on space problems have appeared in leading technical and law journals, is the author of a new book, "Law of the Space Age," published by Public Affairs Press in Washington.

For years he has been urging international controls.

Red Radio Says Dulles Talks 'Electioneering'

LONDON (AP)—Moscow Radio today called Secretary of State Dulles' talks in Formosa an electioneering stunt that heralded no change in U.S. Far East policy.

In the communique issued by Dulles and President Chiang Kai-shek the United States "declared its intention to continue interfering China's domestic affairs and helping provocation of the Nationalists," the broadcast said.

If the United States really wanted to change its policy, there would have been no need for Dulles to fly to the Far East, the broadcast said.

"It would have been enough for Washington to give orders to its armed forces to stop interfering in China's civil war," the English language broadcast said.

Democrats To Send Caravan To Leetonia

A caravan of members of the East Liverpool Democratic Club will leave for a campaign dinner in Leetonia Saturday at 6 p. m., Larry Finlay, president announced.

Members are to meet at the club headquarters in the VFW building at 5:30 p. m.

A seven-car caravan visited Salineville Thursday night and met in the Odd Fellows building.

A joint meeting with the Democratic Women's Club will be held Monday night at 8 in the party's campaign headquarters on W. 6th St.

Plans for a free public dance Wednesday night at the VFW building have been completed, Finlay said. George Hamilton's orchestra will play and free coffee and doughnuts will be served.

Pupils Plan To March For Integration

WASHINGTON (AP) — An estimated 5,000 to 6,000 students, both Negro and white, are planning to march through Washington streets to the Lincoln Memorial Saturday in a "Youth March for Integrated Schools."

Sponsors said students from the fourth grade through college, representing schools throughout the nation, will participate to "demonstrate to the world that Little Rock is not America."

Among those leading the march will be former baseball star Jackie Robinson, singer Harry Belafonte and Mrs. Martin Luther King, wife of the leader of the Montgomery, Ala., bus boycott and a sponsor of the march.

A. Philip Randolph, head of the Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters and a cochairman of the march, said he has asked President Eisenhower to receive a delegation of the students.

Sponsors said some 200 busloads of students will come from Chicago, Cleveland, Philadelphia, Baltimore, New York, Detroit and other cities. They said a chartered plane will bring a delegation from Los Angeles.

2 Youths Injured; Woman Also Hurt

A W. 8th St. woman injured in a fall Thursday night was admitted to City Hospital where a man and two youths were treated yesterday and this morning following separate mishaps.

Mrs. June Wasko is in "fairly good" condition with an ankle injury suffered when she turned her ankle and fell on Grant St. last night.

William Stoffel, 19, of Florence St., an employe of the National Church Supply Co. of Chester, was treated this morning for a finger injury suffered on a paper cutting machine.

injured 14 men. The cause of bumps often is undetermined.

The mine slopes to a depth of 4,400 feet underground in a length of 14,300 feet, sometimes descending as steeply as 45 degrees. The company considers it North America's deepest coal pit.

The son of one trapped miner, Gary Embree, said he hoped that "after this they close the mine for good—even if it means the end of Springhill."

Mayor Ralph Gilroy agreed this might be the end. The No. 2 colliery was the only mine left open.

A reporter from Halifax was killed when his car crashed at Truro as he hurried to Springhill. He was John Thompson, 28.

The first of the 88 miners to reach safety in 1956, Charlie Burton, was among the missing today. Frank Hunter, another of the 88, also was trapped and so was his twin brother Fred, but another brother, Percy, got out unhurt.

Ernel Spence lost his son in the 1956 explosion. Spence himself was missing this time.

Slate Fall Kills 3 In West Virginia Mine

KINGWOOD, W. Va. (AP) — A slate fall in a slope mine about five miles south of here Thursday killed three men and injured a fourth.

The mishap occurred about 900 feet back in a mine operated by the J. Wesley Turner Coal Co. of Kingwood under lease from the Baltimore Co.

Killed were Lawrence Turner, 35-year-old son of the mine operator; Leonard Bollinger, 30, and Louis Rager, 35, all of the Kingwood area. Hospitalized at Kingwood Clayton Eagle.

Turner and Bollinger each left four dependents, and Rager nine.

Asst. Supt. Glen Williams of the Baltimore Co. reported that seven men were working in the area of the fall, but that two had gone to lunch. A fifth man was grazed by falling debris.

Jury Unable To Reach Morals Case Verdict

The Common Pleas Court trial of Tony DeSenze, 68, of 1137 Buckeye Ave., Wellsville, ended with a hung jury this morning after the panel reported it could not reach a verdict on the morals charge.

DeSenze was indicted for assault to rape and taking undue liberties with a minor female. The jury of five men and seven women deliberated two hours Thursday afternoon and an hour and a half this morning.

Judge Raymond S. Buzzard dismissed the jury after Edwin S. Dawson of Salem, foreman, reported it would be "impossible" to reach a verdict.

The case was re - entered on the active docket, but no date was set for re-trial. DeSenze was released on bond.

Will Remain Neutral

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—H. D. Heckathorn, president of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation, said Thursday that organization intends to remain neutral on the proposed amendment to regulate labor contracts. The decision to remain neutral was made at the Farm Bureau's annual convention last November, Heckathorn said, but he added that the federation has sent a discussion guide to all members giving arguments on both sides. "My hope is now that all farmers will vote as they see fit on Nov. 4," he said.

Although he is on vacation, the chief took over the investigation of the crash and listened to statements from the officers and others involved in the crash. A cruiser driven by Patrolman Howard Bosworth collided with the rear of private car driven by Mrs. Jean A. Russell, 38, of 1151 Ohio Ave.

City's Crews Resume Street-Sealing Project

Street department crews resumed work this morning on application of a seal-coat on the blacktop paving of Wyoming and Idaho Aves. on Pleasant Heights.

The work was called off Thursday because an early morning rain dampened the pavement.

If work is completed today on the two Pleasant Heights streets, the crew will move on to Anderson Blvd., Supt. W. M. Laughlin said today. In the work Wednesday, a seal coat was applied to part of Wyoming Ave. and a big triangular patch at the intersection of Lisbon St., Belmar St. and Wyoming Ave., he said.

ereign state did the President move into action. That was too late. The opposition to law had solidified and the poison of hate had already spread."

Truman, winding up his national campaigning for Democratic congressional and gubernatorial candidates in the Nov. 4 elections, sidestepped a news conference question earlier on the controversy surrounding Democratic National Chairman Paul Butler.

Butler has been under fire from some Southern Democrats for his strong civil rights stand. Asked if he regarded Butler as a good chairman, Truman declined to go further than saying Butler "has worked very, very hard."

Butler, meanwhile, complained that he is being "clobbered by the Republicans and Smathered by the Democrats."

"Sometimes I wonder whether we are going to last during these closing weeks of the campaign," he told a Democratic rally at Bethesda, Md.

That was a reference to criticism from Southern Democrats, particularly Sen. George Smathers (D-Fla), who has suggested Butler quit talking so much during the campaign about party differences over civil rights.

In his speech, Butler also hit out again at Eisenhower's new campaign tactic of labeling Democrats as radical. He called Eisenhower's oratory "unpleasant and pitiful" and a "capitulation to the ugly tactics of Mr. Nixon."

In a New York talk, Nixon struck anew at "radicals" in predicting a GOP victory in the New York elections.

Although he didn't mention Democrats, he left no doubt of his target in declaring:

"The reactionaries of today are the radicals who seek bigger and bigger government, so that they can spend and spend, and elect and elect. The liberals of today are those conservatives who seek to restore power and initiative to the people where they belong."

In a similar vein, Secretary of Commerce Weeks told a Republican meeting at Charleston, W.Va.: "All-time record prosperity again is within our reach. Don't let radical Democrat politicians snatch it away."

New Increase In Reserve Discount Rate In Effect

By FRANK CORMIER

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new increase in the Federal Reserve System's discount rate goes into effect today. Financial circles doubt it will have any major impact on other interest charges.

The Federal Reserve Board announced late Thursday that the discount rate would be increased to 2½ per cent in 5 of the 12 reserve districts — Philadelphia, Minneapolis, Richmond, St. Louis and Dallas. Other districts will maintain the old 2 per cent rate for a time but are expected to adopt the increase later.

A hike in the discount, or interest charged when member banks borrow money from the reserve system, usually is intended to tighten credit and fight inflation.

A board spokesman indicated this latest increase—the second in about two months—was based on another consideration: a desire by the board to bring the rate closer into line with other short-term interest charges.

The spokesman noted that the gap between the 2 per cent discount rate and the current 2.8 per cent yield on 91-day Treasury bills was unusual. The board normally keeps the discount rate higher than the bill rate, to discourage banks from borrowing to buy bills.

Wall Streeters said the increase had been expected and that market prices had adjusted to it in advance. One bond expert said the increase might give an upward jolt to short-term rates. However, he said this would be only temporary, and should not affect intermediate and long-term bond issues. New York markets were closed when the announcement came.

On the Pacific Coast Exchange, still open then, stocks dipped slightly.

The discount rate has been changed five times this year. The first three moves, during the recession, were downward. On Aug. 15 the rate was increased to 2 per cent from its recession low of 1¾ per cent. The rate hit a "tight money" peak of 3½ per cent last fall.

Uninvited Guest Turns Out To Be Domestic Coon

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Ward Schlacter is convinced he's got a guest in the house—an uninvited one at that.

Schlacter, 25, sat down to eat dinner with his wife Thursday night when all the lights in the house went out.

Flashlight in hand, he ventured into the basement where he found the fusebox had been tampered with and the side door curtains had been ripped down. He suspected burglars and called police.

Patrolmen Robert Telton and Richard Scobie arrived. They decided it was no burglar, when they spotted animal footprints in the basement and side entrance hall and teethmarks and wood shavings near the door.

Telton, Scobie and Schlacter "solved" the mystery by concluding a domestic coon has been residing in a crawl space above the ceiling of the basement.

Disturbed when Schlacter recently wired his hi-fi set, the coon apparently retaliated by chewing a hole in the ceiling leading to the crawl space and invading the fuse box.

Limbering Exercises Help 'Softies'

Certain words pair off together: young and supple; old and stiff. To be slim, supple and beautiful, bodies must be used in natural movements!

Ida Jean Kain

Muscles must be pulled and released, and joints put through their full range of motion.

Alas, the less we exercise, the less we want to exercise.

It's the law of inertia. Then muscles become soft and flabby and unneeded fat accumulates. Joints get "rusty" and creak from disuse. In truth, joints can be 15 years older than our calendar age!

In suggesting exercises, I am ever mindful of different age groups as well as varying amounts of weight. The rule for exercise in middle age is somewhat the same as for falling in love in that period —proceed with caution.

IF THE EXERCISES in the column veer toward the sissy side, well, it's so they will be safe for all.

Here we go with a natural stretch, combined with arm circling to bring shoulder joints into the action.

Position: Standing with feet apart in upright posture. Have shoulders square but down and relaxed.

Movement: Slowly circle right arm forward and upwards as you pull slim all through the middle measurement. Continue the arm circling action—around, back and down. Feel the waist being "Slimmed." Circle free and easy, making six complete circles with right arm. Then repeat with the left arm. This exercise should bring a lift as well as a release of tension.

Progress with a side-bend to increase flexibility and get at those little used muscles which bound the sides of the silhouette.

Position: Standing erect, feet apart, right arm arched overhead, left arm down at sides. Pull up-and-in firmly with abdominal muscles and center pelvic girdle.

Movement: Slowly bend to the left, continuing to stretch—clear to fingertips—with right arm. At the same time, slide the left hand down the thigh line toward knee. Bend but don't strain.

As you become more supple, you will be able to reach below the knee. Practic increases flexibility and slims the waist. Bend six times, change sides and bend again.

—:—

FOR A WILLOWY waist, circle at dead center. From the same standing position, place hands at either side of waist and using waist "joint" as a pivot, bend toward the right side. Circle around and forward and on around to the left side . . . and up.

Then bend to the left and circle toward the right. Continue for 6 to 12 slow easy circles. Don't move hips.

Limbering exercises, taken daily, help you to be slim, supple and young.

Send a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for illustrated exercise leaflet, "For A Slimmer Midriff." Address your request to Ida Jean Kain, in care of this newspaper. Post card requests can not be answered.

Mine Deaths Inquiry Slated

Shippingport Trio's Funerals Are Waited

the entry but later a large fan was brought in to improve the ventilation.

The tunnel in which the cave-in occurred is the third dug into the hillside at the site and had been started only recently.

Banas, who resides along the dirt road leading to the highway, said he had helped start the entry but had not been working in it lately. He said he had planned to work one side later to bring out some of the coal which is the Upper Freeport vein.

Arriving at the scene later in the afternoon were Sam Cortis of Canonsburg, state mine inspector for District 17, along with A. J. Nairn of Washington, another mine inspector. John Risko of Grove City, federal mine inspector, was also there, and all three were to meet at the mine this morning to talk to Call.

The Salvation Army of East Liverpool had four staff members at the mine, serving coffee and sandwiches to the rescue workers. The Monaca fire department had a truck and men at the scene as did the Shippingport volunteer fire department.

A Pennsylvania state policeman directed traffic on Route 168 which was clogged at times with people coming to watch the rescue efforts, along with regular traffic, including that from the nearby Duquesne Light Co. atomic power plant.

Among the Dow-Lin men who helped in the rescue effort were Edward Chuck and George Verthnick of West Point, Ronald Rohm of Shippingport, Jack Reckner of Hookstown and Frank Slak of near Shippingport. Bill Link, co-owner of the Dow-Lin mine, was also at the scene.

At one time a report was received the Welch ambulance was en route to Rochester General Hospital with one of the trapped men, but it was learned a witness had mistakenly assumed the ambulance was headed toward Rochester when the driver, not knowing the road to the mine, continued past it for some distance before turning back.

Young Call was born Sept. 21, 1940, in East Liverpool, the son of Mrs. Betty Call of Shippingport and Jack C. Call of Aliquippa R. D. He attended the Shippingport and Potter Township schools.

Besides his parents, he is survived by a brother, Charles Richard Call at home, and paternal grandparent, Mrs. James A. McLane of Shippingport.

Services will be held Sunday at 2 p. m. at the Welch Funeral Home in Hookstown by the Rev. David Dayen of the Shippingport Methodist Church. Burial will be in Mill Creek Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home after 7 tonight.

The Haskiells are survived by their mother, Mrs. Mary Ellen Haskiell of Tunnelton, W. Va., and two sisters, Mrs. Mary Tusing of Elyria and Mrs. Lula Bell Martin of Tunnelton.

Dale Haskiell was born March 28, 1937, at Kingwood, W. Va.

He worked for Phoenix Glass for five years and moved from Monaca to New Brighton two months ago. He is also survived by his widow, Mrs. Dianne Balser Haskiell at home.

Services will be held Sunday at 2 p. m. at the Todd Funeral Home in Beaver by the Rev. H. K. Hackney of the Church of God at Vanport. Burial will be in Oak Grove Cemetery at Industry.

Friends will be received at the funeral home after 7:30 tonight.

The body of Frank Haskiell is at the Darrock Funeral Home in Aliquippa. Arrangements are incomplete.

THE HORROR of the mine tragedy in which three men died Thursday is mirrored in the top pictures which show two step-aunts and the father of one victim after the body of Jack Call was recovered. The women are Mrs. Earl Lockhart and Mrs. Alfred Torreyson. The father, Jack Call, identified the body of the first victim removed as that of his son. Call operated the mine and discovered the tragedy when he returned after hauling a load of coal. The bottom picture shows some of the crew unloading rock from a mine car as others await word on efforts to reach the men.

Brian and Galen Greenisen and Auditor I. J. Vorndran.

Trio Seeks Probation In Check Passing Case

Chester Fred Looman and Robert C. Looman, both of Hookstown, and Loyd G. Looman of East Liverpool, convicted of passing fraudulent checks, asked Common Pleas Court for probation today at Lisbon.

Judge Raymond S. Buzzard in hearing their requests advised them Richard Rose, adult probation officer, will make an investigation and report to the court.

The three are out on bond which was continued.

Rep. Vanik Speaks

CLEVELAND (AP) — Rep. Charles A. Vanik (D-Ohio) says America is facing a critical period of adjustment and employment in the post-recession period will require a "constantly changing classification and competency in the labor force." In a speech to the Garfield Heights Educational Assn., Vanik, who is seeking re-election, urged an adult education program designed to keep a person on the job rather than to entertain them.

Rights Agency Attacked By South Official

Politically Inspired, Alabaman Says Of Voting Rights Airing

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Civil Rights Commission plan to hold a voting rights hearing in Alabama has brought a state official's charge it is politically inspired.

The hearing is set for Dec. 8 in Montgomery, the state capital.

It will be the first held by the commission since its creation by Congress last year.

The session may provide a key test of the commission's power to dig out information on complaints by Negroes and others that they are being denied the right to vote.

Acting on advice of Alabama Atty. Gen. John Patterson, officials of the Macon County Voter Registration Board earlier this week refused to allow commission investigators to examine its records.

Commission Vice Chairman Robert G. Storey was asked whether the Macon County records would be subpoenaed. Storey, dean of the Southern Methodist University Law School, replied it would seem to be necessary to have the full record dealing with the controversy.

In Montgomery, Patterson — who is the Democratic nominee for governor—said the commission announced the hearing to "create an atmosphere to get some Republican votes in the coming congressional elections." These elections will be held Nov. 4.

Meanwhile, E. V. Livingston, chairman of the Macon County Registration Board, said he was determined to withhold records from the commission "until Mr. Patterson tells me to do otherwise."

In other actions at its meeting Thursday, the commission authorized:

1. Further investigations of alleged denial of voting rights in Mississippi and Florida.

2. A preliminary survey of a similar allegation, this one based on national origin, in a Northern state which Commission Chairman John A. Hannah refused to identify.

3. A fact-finding hearing on housing, to start in New York Feb. 2. Commission officials said this was not based on any complaints.

West Virginia Fixes New Date On First Grade Entry

CHARLESTOWN (AP)—Effective in 1960, youngsters must be six years old on the Nov. 1 following opening of a new school term to be able to enter the first grade.

The State Board of Education voted Thursday to make the change from the Feb. 1 date now in use.

In another significant move, the board voted to put into effect in the fall of 1961 a policy under which the poorest students will be denied entrance to the nine state colleges.

Only graduates who rank in the upper three-quarters of their class for the four high school years will be granted admission automatically.

All others will be admitted only if they score among the top three-fourths in a School and College Ability Test.

Non-high school graduates will be admitted to the colleges if they make a satisfactory score on the General Education Development Test. The West Virginia Council of College and University Presidents urged the restrictions.

State School Supt. R. Virgil Rohrbough, who recommended the age change for first graders to the board last September, said that from six to seven thousand children would be delayed for a year in beginning school.

Rohrbough had asked that the change be made effective next fall. The West Virginia Education Assn. and the West Virginia Congress of Parents and Teachers also have urged an age change.

Excutive Secretary Phares E. Reeder of the WVEA told the board that a poll of 2,286 first grade teachers showed that 2,211 felt the youngest pupils now possible are not capable of doing the scheduled work.

The WVEA had urged that requirements call for children to be six years of age by the Sept. 1 preceding opening of first grade to the later date in recognizing that "objectives are obtained through compromise."

The WVEA said it agreed with the board action with an understanding that establishment of properly administered public and private kindergartens and later steps to set the school entrance age at Sept. 1 be given future study.

Cardinals Convene Saturday

Plans Nearly Completed For Election Of New Pope

By FRANK BRUTTO

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Preparations were nearly completed today for the conclave that will elect a new Pope of the Roman Catholic Church.

Scores of carpenters and masons put final touches to temporary walls and enclosures that will shut off the electing cardinals from the outside world beginning Saturday.

In a corner of the famous Sistine Chapel, where the cardinals will vote, a shiny, pot-bellied stove was ready to burn their ballots.

In St. Peter's Square workmen cleaned the famous Bernini fountains and prepared the area for the throng that will gather there while the voting is in progress.

The cardinals gathered for the conclave held a final congregation to make their last arrangements.

Saturday morning they will gather in St. Peter's Basilica for a "Mass of the Holy Spirit," a service specially intended to beseech divine guidance during the conclave.

Fifty-two of the 54 living cardinals are in Rome and expected to attend the conclave. There was still a slight hope that last-minute arrangements could be made to bring Josef Cardinal Mindszenty of Hungary here for the conclave.

The U.S. Legation in Budapest, where the cardinal has been a political refugee since November, 1956, was unable to obtain a safe-conduct for the cardinal from Communist authorities.

Nonethless, just in case, a throne for Cardinal Mindszenty has been placed in the Sistine Chapel. There are 53 such thrones, each topped by a canopy.

The only other member of the College of Cardinals who will not attend is Alojzije Cardinal Stepinac, Primate of Yugoslavia. He is sick and confined by Communist authorities to his native village of Krasic.

Agreement Reached On New GM Contract

CLEVELAND (AP)—The management of General Motors Corp.'s Euclid Division and the Independent Road Machinery Workers Alliance have reached agreement of a new three-year contract covering 800 production workers, the company announced today.

The workers, who have been on strike since Oct. 7, will meet tonight to vote on the contract. If they ratify it they will return to work on their regular shifts Monday, a company spokesman said.

The contract follows the pattern of that negotiated between General Motors and the United Automobile Workers Union.

Beaver Falls Driver Jailed

Man In Crash Also Receives $300 Fine

A 40-year-old Beaver Falls man was fined $300 and costs and given a 3-day jail term when he pleaded guilty in Municipal Court today on a drunken driving charge filed by police as the aftermath of a two-car crash Wednesday night in East End.

Eric S. Weaver was cited after his auto collided with a 1953 sedan operated by Homer Timmons, 58, of 211 Walnut St. He pleaded not guilty at arraignment Thursday, but switched his plea when taken before Judge George L. Brokaw this morning for a hearing. Timmons and Ford Patterson of Beaver Falls, a passenger in Weaver's car, were injured in the crash.

Meanwhile, William Frazier, 25, of Youngstown, injured Oct. 12 when his car struck a utility pole at Harvey Ave. and Elizabeth St., was fined $10 and costs on a reckless driving charge.

Frazier's court appearance was delayed because he had been in City Hospital with a fractured wrist suffered in the crash. The police charge against Frazier said he lost control of his auto when he turned his head to talk to a passenger in the back seat.

East Liverpool recorded one minor mishap overnight. Cars driven by Ronald B. Oler, 45, of Toronto R. D. 2 and Mrs. Robert L. Smith, 47, of Mt. Lebanon were damaged in a collision at 4:42 p. m. Thursday at E. 3rd and Washington Sts., police said.

Reds Claim Psychological Victory

Dulles-Chiang Talks Give Something For Everybody

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — There's a little something for everybody in what happened on Formosa between Chiang Kai-shek and Secretary of State Dulles.

The Red Chinese can claim a psychological victory, Dulles can claim to have soothed world fears, and Chiang can claim renewed American support.

But in this writer's view Chiang came out a real loser and the United States moved closer to recognizing two Chinas.

Chiang has talked of recapturing all China ever since the Communists drove him to Formosa from the mainland in 1949. It's been empty talk, so much so that Chiang needed U.S. help even to defend what he already held.

He couldn't go any place without big American support. But his talk kept alive the hopes of his Nationalists on Formosa and non-Communist overseas Chinese.

Then last August the Communists began shelling Quemoy, held by Chiang's men close to the mainland, although Formosa is 100 miles away.

The Eisenhower administration backed Chiang's continued occupation of Quemoy and his defense of it.

Many worried Americans and American allies, fearing United States involvement and then perhaps world war, questioned the administration's wisdom.

They raised this question: Is Quemoy, right in Red China's back yard and so far from Formosa, really necessary to the latter's defense?

Dulles on Sept. 30 indicated a shift in policy. He offered to try to trim Chiang's military forces on Quemoy if the Reds quit shelling it; said Chiang was foolish to put so many of his troops there; and gave a terrible setback to any hopes the Nationalists had to returning to the mainland.

He said: "I don't think that just by their own steam they are going to get there." This shook Chiang. He implied his forces would not attack China except in self-defense. Yet, this was not a full renunciation of force.

But as a result of his agitation Dulles went to Formosa to talk to him. After their conference a communique was issued Thursday. In it Chiang publicly ruled out force as the main means of returning to the mainland.

He held out, instead, the hope that nationalism, democracy, and social well-being would do the trick. This seemed to say his only hope of going back was an internal collapse or profound change in the Red regime. Neither is in sight.

The communique, to put it another way, can be interpreted as saying Chiang is reconciled to abandoning all hope of returning to China unless a miracle happens.

This can hardly boost the morale of his Nationalists on China. If they get dispirited, he may be in for trouble.

The Red Chinese can claim this as a psychological victory, because Dulles wouldn't have gone to Formosa and the communique wouldn't have been issued if the Communists hadn't created crisis and raised world fears by shelling Quemoy.

At the same time it was reliably reported on Formosa that Dulles had persuaded Chiang to reduce his Quemoy forces if the Reds quit shooting.

Dulles can claim that this and his statement made public Thursday—that this country is not going to attack or tolerate attacks against the Chinese Communists—reassure Americans and American allies against fear of war over Quemoy.

At the same time it was reported at Taipei that Dulles promised Chiang this country would provide him with modern weapons to replace any military strength he relinquished by reducing his forces on Quemoy.

Dulles also pledged this country would resist any attack by the Chinese Reds lest it weaken Western defense lines. From these promises Chiang can claim renewed American support for the defense of Formosa.

But this country has steadfastly refused to recognize the Red Chinese as the lawful government of all China, insisting Chiang's regime on Formosa is the lawful government of China. Thursday's communique substantially reiterated this stand.

This is the administration's one-China policy. But it will have difficulty persisting in this policy now that Chiang has practically abandoned all hope of returning to the mainland except through profound internal change or collapse.

RETIRING WORKER HONORED. Mike Cloran, left, of East Liverpool receives a gift from Howard Forsythe at a dinner honoring the retiring chief chemist of the Crucible Steel Co. Wednesday night in Deramo's Restaurant at Midland. Cloran, who is retiring Oct. 31, joined Crucible in 1917 after graduating from Ohio State University that year with a bachelor of science degree in chemistry. Forsythe is general supervisor of the chemical laboratory at the Midland Works.

3 Huntsmen Still Missing In Mountains

MILES CITY, Mont. (AP)—Two Minnesota hunters and one from Wyoming still were missing today in the snow-gripped mountains of southern Montana.

Hope for survival of the three hunters was dwindling rapidly.

The missing included Robert Pittman, 28, Sheridan, Wyo., and two unidentified Minnesota youths 18 and 20, believed from the Minneapolis area. All three have been missing since Monday, when a bitter wind and snowstorm ripped through the state's southern sector.

A ground search party reported by radio they had talked with the father of one of the Minnesota boys. The father and another member of the four-man hunting party refused to identify themselves.

More than 50 searchers plodded through the deep snow in the Lame Deer area in the hunt for Pittman.

Another hunter froze to death. He was identified as Clyde F. Williams, 72, Belgrade, Mont.

Meanwhile, conditions created by the storm remained critical on the Northern Cheyenne Indian reservation. Throughout the reservation and in areas to the east drifts were 30 feet high and power and telephone lines were down. Some highways were blocked.

Bricker Declares Space Unit Needs Civilian Control

ASHTABULA, Ohio (AP)—Military space and missile agencies belong under civilian control, Sen. John W. Bricker said Thursday night.

The Ohio Republican, a member of the Senate's Special Committee on Space and Astronautics, said Army, Navy and Air Force space projects should be merged with the new National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

The Army has voiced strong opposition to shifting its space-missile team to the jurisdiction of NASA, headed by T. Keith Glennan, on leave as president of Case Institute of Technology.

Despite military impolications, exploring in space is primarily a scientific venture, Bricker said.

He departed from a prepared political text to comment on the space controversy.

Ohio Bell, Cities Maneuver Closer To Rate Hike Talk

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Representatives of the Ohio Bell Telephone Co. and Ohio cities fighting the company's request for a 28-million-dollar a year rate hike maneuvered closer to another negotiation session Thursday.

Ferd Pickens, Columbus utilities director and chairman of the city representatives, said they would meet with the company again provided the company has a concrete offer to make.

L. T. Pendleton, Ohio Bell's vice president in charge of revenue, said he did not know if the company would request the meeting, but "we're going to think about it."

Meanwhile a Utilities Commission hearing went into its fourth day today with more testimony from company experts backing up its claim to the 28-million-dollar rate boost.

Any meetings between the company and city representatives to negotiate a settlement would not take place before a meeting scheduled in Cleveland next Thursday of city representatives.

Pickens said the meeting would map out the cities' defense for the Utilities Commission hearing.

Second Trial Set For Canton Man In Bank Robbery

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — A second trial for Robert Walker of Canton, Ohio, on charges that he robbed a branch bank here of $109,953 will open Dec. 8.

The jury in Walker's first trial was dismissed Thursday by U.S. District Judge Henry Brooks when they failed to agree upon a verdict after two days of deliberation.

The jury had asked to rehear testimony of two government witnesses but Judge Brooks refused the request on grounds it would over-emphasize the prosecution's case.

Darl Dee Parker, 27, also of Canton, faces trial on the same robbery next March.

Walker and his family claim he was in Canton the day of the robbery.

Walker's new trial will open just one day less than two years after two gunmen held up the bank in one of this city's biggest robberies.

Killed In Wreck

BUCYRUS, Ohio (AP)—Richard B. Rodgers, 26, of Rt. 1, Galion, was killed late Thursday when he lost control of his car and it crashed along a county road about 1½ miles north of nearby Galion.

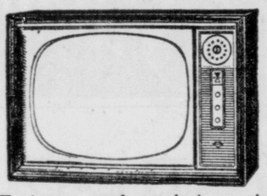

Akron Mayor Opposes Right To Work Issue

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Akron Mayor Leo A. Berg urged defeat of the proposed amendment to regulate labor contracts in a radio speech here Thursday night. He cited labor's assistance to the city in previous years, and added:

"Organized labor here has given its full support to the promotion, progress and fulfillment of the community's needs.

"The leaders of our many unions have been strong men with great integrity and sincerity, men who have great affection for this community as a whole."

Children's Receiving Home

This Little Levy has a big heart for children who are miserable, lonely and afraid.

It will build a receiving home on the county home farm near Lisbon to accomodate up to 10 boys and 10 girls, youngsters to teenagers.

The Levy Is For Two-tenths of a mill for five years. On a property with a tax valuation of $5,000, the tax will be $1 per year—just 20 cents per $1,000.

Success of the levy means a temporary home for several hundred children who go through Juvenile Court and the Welfare Department each year. At present, they face an unhappy, uncertain transition from uprooting to relocation.

Many Are Picked Up by police departments—often late at night—and are unbelievably dirty and hungry. Lacking facilities, the Welfare Department must take them to whatever foster home has a vacancy until permanent placement can be made.

Children from the same family sometimes have to be separated in these emergencies—an immeasurable shock that goes deeper than tears. "Sold out" by parental neglect or misdoing, they need each other more than before.

Occasionally, It Is Necessary to place older boys and girls in detention quarters at the county jail. We believe you will agree this is not a good practice.

The Court and Welfare Department plan to limit the children's stay at the receiving home to 30 days. In many cases it will be less but, in any event, long enough for them to be cleaned, fed and clothed, and for the judge and welfare director to work out the right solution.

Levy funds will be supplemented by the $50,000 to be received by the county from sale of its share in Fairmount Children's Home to Stark County.

For the Welfare and Happiness of all our children, we urge you to vote for the levy and use your influence to help it succeed.

Receiving Home Levy Committee

Big Ohio Political Wheels Churn Cuyahoga's Paydirt

By ARTPARKS

CLEVELAND (AP) — The big wheels of Ohio politics are churning in the deep paydirt of populous Cuyahoga County. One candidate for governor talks of campaign mud while the other speaks of the gutter.

The candidates for governor, Republican C. William O'Neill and Democrat Michael V. DiSalle, appealed to the voters Thursday night in live television broadcasts —over the same station, but an hour apart.

They missed each other at the front door of the station by a bare 10 minutes. But they will come face to face here Saturday in the traditional City Club debate.

Democrat Stephen M. Young beat the precinct bushes in his quest for votes and his Republican opponent for the U. S. Senate was due to campaign in Cuyahoga County today.

The fifth man in the act was Democratic Sen. Frank J. Lausche.

O'Neill made a big pitch designed to offset DiSalle's earlier documented charge that some of the Republican governor's 1956 campaign television bill was picked up by the Ohio Conference of Teamsters and its president, William Presser.

O'Neill displayed photostatic copies of official documents to show that the DiSalle campaign for U. S. Senate in 1952 received $2,500 from labor's league for political education and the Toledo Democrat's 1956 campaign for governor received $1,000 contribution from the Ohio CIO Council.

DiSalle immediately retorted that, in light of the Presser link, O'Neill has shed "the cloak of respectability that has been his stock in trade . . . and has descended into the gutter." He challenged O'Neill to agree to an impartial, pre-election audit of the 1956 and 1958 campaign contributions to both candidates.

The Republican governor appeared to be trying to weld together his campaign for re-election and his late-blooming attempt to put Iussue 2—the proposed constitutional amendment to regulate labor contracts—over the top.

O'Neill, as he has several times before, brought Democrat Lausche's name into the campaign. This time, he ventured the opinion that the Democratic platform would not have contained a plank against Isssue 2 if Lausche had been the candidate for governor.

Only an hour before, however, Lausche had appeared on DiSalle's TV program with the assertion:

"If I thought for a moment that (former Toledo) Mayor DiSalle had made any alliances with any segment of the economy which would prevent him from being the governor of all the people, I would not be here tonight."

Lausche said DiSalle, in the 1956 campaign for governor, "repelled the support of groups which would have tied his soul."

O'Neill's attack on DiSalle was easily the roughest and most personal of his entire campaign. O'Neill asserted:

"The labor bosses (in 1952) made a down payment upon the services of my opponent should he ever be elected to public office.

"In 1956, when the labor bosses of Ohio CIO wanted to knock me out of public life, they gave my opponent the second installment payment for his services.

"The final payment in full for his services is now being made in this campaign."

O'Neill did not document any charge of labor's financial aid to DiSalle in the 1958 rematch in the governor contest.

The Republican governor told his listeners on a six-station hookup:

"On several occasions our opponent has represented that a great bomb was about to be dropped into the campaign—to blast everbody. In each instance these bombs have proved to be only misguided missiles. We can well call this a mud and dud campaign."

The real issue of the 1958 campaign, O'Neill declared, lies in the question:

"Shall the corrupt labor bosses be permitted to take over Ohio?"

O'Neill asserted:

"I have fought them in the Legislature for 12 years, as attorney general for six years, and they have been unable to get a footholding in dominating Ohio in the past two years."

To that remark, DiSalle replied:

"If he fought them, it must have been with cream puffs at four miles. If you're fighting them, you don't sit down with them, don't go around with them and don't let them sponsor radio programs for you."

DiSalle's telecast was in his recent "citizens' press conference" pattern.

In reply to questions on taxes, DiSalle said he could not foresee a state income tax, that excise taxes—particularly the sales tax—would continue to be the state's biggest single source of revenue. He indicated however, that if elected, he might recommend the plugging of some loopholes in the sales tax law and an improvement in the method of collection.

Operation Reported To Offer Treatment For Some Strokes

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — An operation described by its originators as offering a way of successfully treating some kinds of stroke was reported today.

Stroke is a paralysis of some body function such as sight, speech or movement. It is due to the stoppage of the blood supply to a certain part of the brain, usually because of a clot. When it hits the part of the brain governing breathing, the result is often fatal.

Medical science up to now has been able to achieve little toward undoing the damage by stroke and the outlook for curative treatment has been a dismal one, the sponsors of the new operation said.

But a large percentage of the clots occur in arteries in the neck leading to the brain, not to little arteries in the brain itself. These trouble spots in the neck can be reached handily by surgery, they said.

Results of 67 of these neck operations on 50 patients were reported to the American Heart Assn. by a surgical team from Baylor University, Houston, Tex. The team was made up of Dr. E. Stanley Crawford, who reported the results, Dr. Michael E. Deakey, Dr. Denton A. Cooley and Dr. George C. Morris Jr.

X-ray studies showed the clots in these 50 cases to be located in blood vessels of the neck or upper torso. The treatment was to remove the blockading material surgically.

Normal circulation was restored to a majority of the patients, Dr. Crawford said, with the return of the lost functioning.

Knows When To Jump

Khrushchev, Soviet Chief, Is Man Of Terrific Agility

By ROY ESSGYAN
Associated Press Staff Writer

Nikita S. Khrushchev, head of the Soviet party and government, is a man of tremendous agility.

He has a seemingly tireless energy, wide ranging ability and that all-important Communist knack of knowing when to jump.

He has made more enemies in Russia in the last few years than any other Soviet leader except Stalin. But so far he is still in complete control.

His control has been challenged. But when he can't lick them he joins them. Most of the time he's managed to lick them.

He uses no terror in the Stalin pattern. His enemies are still alive.

His agility vaulted him to the top in the scramble after Stalin's death, and has kept him at the top despite bloopers and reverses that would have felled a less nimble man.

Khrushchev has played many roles since he came to power. His early characterizations were popular.

When he played the clown the Russians roared. They laughed at him but in their way they loved him, made up anecdotes about him and slapped their thighs.

Then in February 1956 he denounced Stalin and a hush fell over the land, broken only by the coaxing singsong of orators and party agitators rallying the masses.

After 30 years of Stalinism the new line was hard to swallow whole. As the people slowly digested it a new excitement stirred the country.

It stirred the people of Poland and Hungary even more. They rioted in Poznan, revolted in Hungary.

Khrushchev reared back.

At a New Year's banquet in the Kremlin's gold and marble St. George's Hall, Khrushchev announced that Stalin was a great man after all.

The cynics smiled. "We knew it all the time," they said. And Khrushchev even joked about it, and the people laughed.

They fell a little silent again in June and October 1957 when he started purging his onetime partners in the Kremlin. For a spell the ghost of Stalin seemed about to rise in earnest.

But the crisis passed and Khrushchev bounced back to clown again. The Russians started to laugh again, but now they listened more seriously, for Khrushchev was obviously a very serious man.

People who saw him right after what is generally considered to be his latest reversal—when he returned from Peiping and switched signals on the East-West summit conference he had been fervently espousing—said he looked gray and shaken.

But they said he has bounced right back and, never idle or timid, has ordered a complete overhaul of the Soviet education system.

The plan is far from popular with the Russians. But neither was his original "virgin lands" development program, nor his drastic decentralization of industrial and economic management, nor his decision to abolish machine-tractor stations and set up a new pricing system for agriculture produce.

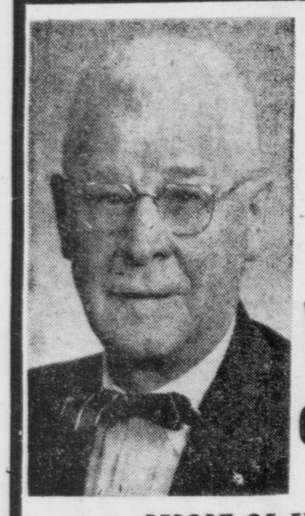

Each of Khrushchev's purges and programs has created enemies—among the so-called Stalinists, the hard-core Marxists, the intellectuals, in management, in the army and now even within the ranks of settled, middle-class Soviet parents.

Can a man with so many enemies survive in Russia?

Interestingly enough, every time Khrushchev has made a new set of enemies, people not directly affected have felt he was acting in the best interests of the country. For though he can quote the Marxist scriptures better than most, Khrushchev is essentially a practical man.

So far there is no indication of solidarity in the ranks of the disaffected. And, equally important, there is no man of stature left to lead them.

'Right-to-Work' Laws

The Late Senator Robert A. Taft

"I myself came to the conclusion that since there had been for such a long time so many union shops in the United States, since in many trades it was entirely customary and had worked satisfactorily, I at least was not willing to go to the extent of abolishing the possibility of a union shop contract. It seemed to me that (instead) we should meet the problem of dealing with the abuses which have appeared.

"... I think it would be a mistake to go to the extreme of absolutely outlawing a contract which provides for a union shop."

Excerpts from the remarks by Senator Robert A. Taft in opposing an amendment to the Taft-Hartley Act which would have provided for a national so-called "right-to-work" law. (Congressional Record, p. 4885-6, May 9, 1947.)

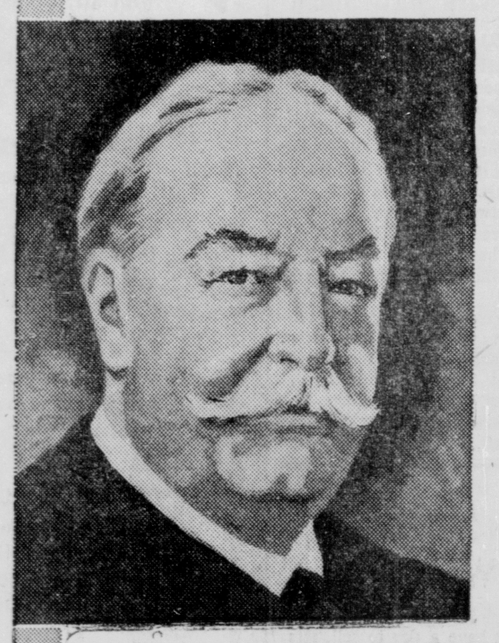

Charles P. Taft
former Mayor of Cincinnati

"I am interested in the freedom of the individual worker, too, but I see every reason why he should pay something for the representation he receives when the union lawfully designed by vote of the workers bargains for him. I see no reason for the 'free rider.'

"The intent of these ('right-to-work') acts is clearly anti-union, as anyone knows who has talked to the overwhelming majority of those who favor them."

The Late President Wm. H. Taft

"Labor unions were organized out of the necessity of the situation. A single employee was helpless in dealing with an employer. If the employer refused to pay him the wage he thought fair, he was nevertheless unable to leave the employ and resist arbitrary and unfair treatment. Union was essential to give laborers opportunity to deal on equality with their employer."

Ex-President Taft, father of Robert and Charles, Taft, wrote the above when he was Chief Justice of the U. S. Supreme Court. (See American Steel Foundries Co. vs. Tri-City Trades Council, 1912 decisions.)

Atlantic City Ware Show Registers 252 Exhibitors

Exhibitor registration for the new Atlantic City China and Glass Show Jan. 4-9 already has hit 252, more than the total number of participants in all three ware shows held last January at Pittsburgh, the sponsoring organization announced today.

Introduction of new dinnerware lines for 1959 will center in Atlantic City for the first time next year, as the Associated Glass & Pottery Manufacturers has canceled the traditional Pittsburgh show, which it sponsored for 79 years. In the years since World War II, two other ware shows were held in Pittsburgh in January, both featuring imported china and glass.

Exhibit space on the main floor of the Atlantic City Convention Hall already has been sold out and the Board of Directors of the sponsoring organization has voted to arrange for use of the ballroom on the second floor of the hall.

William E. Little of George Little Management, Inc., in New York City said the total number of exhibitors booked for the Atlantic City show already is 20 ahead of the combined number that exhibited at all 3 Pittsburgh shows in January.

"There is no doubt that the reorganization of the major market for the china and glass industry has stimulated interest on the part of many firms who were not 'show-minded' in the past," Little commented. "This interest has been reflected by reports indicating a substantial increase in the number of buyers planning to attend the market. Atlantic City hotels already have received hundreds of advance reservations for stays of three to five days, so we are anticipating record attendance and active buying at this premier market."

Social highlights of the show will include a "get acquainted" cocktail party Monday, Jan. 5, at the Shelburne Hotel and a dinner-dance Wednesday, Jan. 7.

City Designated CD Communication Center

Civil Defense officials have designated East Liverpool as a communications center for the 3rd Area, and a communications truck will be stationed at the Central Fire Station shortly.

Sam Wolfe, platoon leader of the police team of the 31st Mobile Support Group, said the large truck, now at Alliance, will be moved to the fire station as soon as the present CD rescue truck can be transferred to the water works building in the East End.

Wolfe said about 27 communications operators in this area will staff the new truck.

The city CD police team is now meeting on the third Tuesday of each month at the Yacht Club headquarters at the foot of Broadway, Wolfe said, and is also attending area police team meetings the second Monday of each month at Lisbon.

Gas Firm's Drivers Achieve Safety Mark

East Liverpool gas company drivers were credited today with helping the Manufacturers Light & Heat Co. capture its second top safe driving award for large gas utilities.

They helped with the championship for the Pittsburgh group companies of the Columbia Gas System in 1956 and placed second in 1957, W. T. McIntyre, local manager, said.

The campaign is under the supervision of an employees' committee. Lawrence E. Bickle, local chairman, is assisted by Kenneth R. Gross, Gerald H. Duffy and Glenn W. Wiley.

Young Raps Bricker On Old Age Aid

CLEVELAND (AP)— Democrat Stephen M. Young, candidate for the U. S. Senate, has based his campaign on criticism of his Republican opponent's voting record in Congress. Thursday night the topic was help for aged.

He said Sen. John W. Bricker and the GOP failed to support legislation to improve the living standards of elderly people.

He said:

How any Republican could, with a straight face, ask any senior citizen except a retired millionaire to vote the Republican ticket this year is beyond comprehension."

The only time Bricker shows concern for elderly people, Young asserted, is at election time. He said Bricker's record "has been nothing but a negative one" on such programs as medical care, more adequate housing for the aged, increased public assistance, social security and aid to the aged.

"I am sure," Young said, "when our senior citizens go to the polls this time they won't forget that one more Democratic vote would have meant passage of increased public assistance to the aged and blind, six more Democratic votes would have meant a decent housing program for our elderly, and more Democratic votes in the Senate would have resulted in far greater social security benefits."

Chamber Committees To Hear Walter Myers

Walter L. Myers Jr., executive manager of the Upper Ohio Valley Development Council, will speak at a joint meeting of the UOVDC and industrial development committees of the Chamber of Commerce Monday night at 8 in the Ohio Power Co. building.

Higgins, Ohio Power manager who was transferred to Portsmouth. Winston A. Porter is the new chairman of the local UOVDC committee. Mike Turk heads the industrial development committee.

Out Of The Air

By JOHN CROSBY

One Of The Great Ones

An evening with the ageless and wonderful Fred Astaire was just about the best television show I ever saw. It was one of those memorable experiences like the Mary Martin-Ethel Merman duet of years ago, that people will talk about for years, and it'll set a mark that other performers will aim at and probably never achieve. Like the Martin - Merman show, Astaire's show got a lot of sentimental help from great old songs that he has been associated with and, as he himself said, it's been his "great good fortune" to launch some of the best.

John Crosby

But the reason, I'll bet, he has been given the best songs by the best of composers—Irving Berlin, Cole Porter, Jerome Kern, George Gershwin, among others—is that he was and is almost the perfect performer—a glowing personality, matchless talent as a dancer (has there ever been a better one?) and a tireless perfectionist to boot.

-:-

MOSTLY, IF YOU get any two of those qualities, you're lucky. (If you get personality and talent, you get a lazy or dissolute one. The hard-working ones are usually missing in the talent or personality departments.)

Astaire worked on this show for six months and from the opening shot (a tight closeup of his tapping foot) to the end where he was ad libbing dance steps in front of his group, the hard work showed in effortless poise and ease.

Astaire slid from number to number—he was involved in almost all of them the whole hour through—without ruffling a feather or missing a beat. Rhythms succeeded rhythms and moods succeeded moods, each one prepared for by the predecessor and laying the groundwork for the next one.

The first dance, in which he activated a group of dancers in various groupings, was impish, elfin, very light in mood. Then he danced a romantic duet with his new partner, Bonnie Chase, who is strongly suggestive of Brigitte Bardot (as if one of them isn't almost more than I can bear).

NEXT CAME a solo with suggestions from some of his great movie solos employing imaginary props such as drums, torpedoes, drumsticks, pianos — with great sound effects.

There were two big numbers. One, with Dave Rose music, found Astaire dancing with a whole slew of sultry dames in a street scene—the whole thing sounding and looking very beat generation.

The second, "St. James Infirmary," with Jonah Jones and his orchestra, had Astaire and Miss Chase in a sexy blues and rhythm dance that reeked of the '20s.

Incidentally, the show was in color and these two numbers—the first in subdued blues slashed with orange light, the second in flaming pinks and yellows—looked like modern French paintings. Color TV adds enormously to this sort of show.

THEN ASTAIRE simply sang some of his great songs from his movies (only two from his stage career, "Lady Be Good" and "Night and Day")—"Cheek to Cheek," "A Fine Romance," "They Can't Take That Away From Me," "Nice Work If You Can Get It," "A Foggy Day in London Town," "I Won't Dance," "Something's Got To Give," and "White Tie, Top Hat and Tails."

"The time has gone so fast I don't know where it's gone," said Astaire, closing it all off. "I've never had such a good time."

I suppose that's why the rest of us had such a good time, too.

I wish I could be as enthusiastic about the earlier-in-the-week big show of Mr. Astaire's old sidekick, Ginger Rogers, at whom he sang many of those great old songs, but I can't.

THIS WAS an intermittent affair which started out very badly. There were early numbers in a country fair which seemed awfully self - conscious, stagey and just downright bad in which a great deal of energy was misspent. Then the Ritz Brothers did a number full of dirty jokes which weren't funny. (If you're going to be dirty, you at least ought to have the saving grace to be funny.)

There were some high spots. The wonderfully versatile Miss Rogers did a number with Ray Bolger lampooning all the no-talent guests on television. Bolger and a chorus did a marvelous dance to "Let a Smile Be Your Umbrella."

The show finished with splendid verve as Miss Rogers and a partner danced "The Continental" and "Night and Day" and that was just plain wonderful. Just there, it was touched with the magic that illumined all of the Astaire show.

3 Crewmen Are Killed In Crash Of Bomber

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Three crewman were killed when a B47 jet bomber of the Strategic Air Command plunged to earth and exploded shortly after taking off from nearby Lockbourne AFB Thursday.

The Air Force said the bomber was taking part in a training exercise when it apparently developed trouble in one of its six jet engines.

The huge plane fell back from an altitude of about 500 feet onto a runway. A wing tip struck the ground first.

The Air Force identified the dead as Capt. George W. Berliner, 33, Scottsbluff, Neb., aircraft commander; 1st Lt. Carl Atherton III, 27, Lebanon, Tenn., co-pilot, and Capt. Thomas A. Henry, 42, Binghamton, N. Y., navigator.

Wormy Crooks

Bricker Talks On Education

Says Schools Are Local, State Affair

CLEVELAND (AP)—Sen. John W. Bricker (R-Ohio) said today education is the "most important remaining function of government which is constitutionally and operationally a local and state affair."

In a speech prepared for delivery to a meeting of the Cuyahoga County Republican Women's organization, Bricker discussed ways of improving American education, which he said has grown "progressively soft."

He said too many schools have de-emphasized the "basic intellectual disciplines" like science, mathematics, foreign languages and history.

"This misnamed progressive education has spread like a malignant cancer through our elementary and secondary school systems and teachers' colleges," Bricker asserted.

"Many, many schools and many thousands of teachers have not been infected. All honor to them. But how foolish it is to think that this organic illness can be cured by bandages made of greenbacks."

Bricker said he believes constitutional responsibility for education belonged at the state level. He added:

"While it is true that educational standards must be raised and school facilities improved, there is no evidence that the states will not or cannot discharge their constitutional responsibility. The record-breaking expansion of public education in the last decade had indicated the willingness and ability of our people to continue to make decisions about education and to find sufficient state and local revenues to implement their decisions.

"I know that it is the will of the people of my state to make their decisions about education—and I know equally well that the federal government has no resources to tax which are not available to the citizens of Ohio. I am strongly opposed to any measure which assumes either that local people will default on their responsibility for education or can be given anything by the federal government which was not first taken from them."

New Arms Believed Deadly Against Missile

MONTREAL (AP)—New weapons now available to the North American Air Defense Command may be effective against the inter-continental ballistic missile, Canadian Air Marshal C. R. Slemon said in a speech Thursday night.

Slemon, deputy commander of NORAD at Colorado Springs, Colo., said the new weapons were the MB1 atomic-headed air-to-air missile carried by interceptor aircraft, and atomic warheads for some ground-to-air missiles.

Lion Breaks, Gashes Woman's Arm, Is Shot

POMONA, Calif. (AP) — An African lion broke and gashed a woman's arm when she reached into its cage to pet it.

The beast was shot to death Thursday by its owner when blows with a two-by-four failed to make it release Mrs. Mary Somerville's arm.

Mrs. Somerville and friends had gone to the home of Jack Wilder to see his lion. Wilder is starting a zoo for children in nearby Chino.

Freight Car Carrying Deadly Shells Blows Up

RIFLE, Colo. (AP) — A freight car filled with deadly eight-inch howitzer shells blew up in Debeque Canyon several miles west of here Thursday. The explosion was heard for miles.

A Denver & Rio Grande Western Railroad spokesman said the blast was caused by sparks from a broken journal.

No one was injured on the 68-car train. Some unexploded shells were scattered along the track, and streamliners were delayed until late afternoon. A four-man demolition team from the Rocky Mountain Arsenal near Denver went to the explosion scene to remove unexploded shells.

Will Record Debate

CLEVELAND (AP) — When Ohio's candidates for governor tangle in a debate today the National Broadcasting Co.'s cameras will make a filmed record. At 6:30 p.m. on Nov. 2—two days before the election—Republican Gov. C. William O'Neill and his Democratic opponent, Michael V. DiSalle, can watch the repeat performance with a nationwide television audience. The two will debate at the City Club.

Meeting Fixed On Lake Road

Proposed Route Due For Airing Nov. 25

A public hearing is scheduled in Warren Tuesday, Nov. 25, on the proposed route for the Ohio River - Lake Erie freeway that will link East Liverpool and Ashtabula, State Highway Director Charles M. Noble announced today in Columbus.

Noble revealed the recommended location of the $100 million highway at a meeting of the River - to - Lake Freeway Association in Youngstown in August.

A public hearing, designed to hear all arguments for or against the proposal, is required by law before construction can begin.

A section of the road between U. S. 20 and the Cincinnati-Conneaut Freeway in Ashtabula will be started later this year. Noble said the department is "giving every consideration to including other sections in the next biennium program" which starts in July 1959.

He pointed out the road is needed badly to serve the heavy traffic between the river and the lake when the St. Lawrence Seaway is in full operation. Its length will total 80 miles.

A four - lane section of the freeway at East Liverpool already is well along in the planning stage and is expected to be built within the next two years. It will stretch from the city limits in California Hollow to the Y. & O. Rd. The river - lake freeway will link with a city freeway extending into the West End.

The Warren meeting will start at 2 p. m. at Packard Music Hall, which seats about 1,100.

Used To Be Simple

Growing Up Complicated

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Growing up used to be pretty simple in the old days.

One wonders how they do it today. It is getting more and more complicated.

Then civics was more important than psychology.

Then work was the best group therapy.

Then a job was what had to get done, and you couldn't call a conference about.

Then the biggest wish of most people who wore long black stockings was to get out of them—not to dance with them.

Then an office efficiency expert was a character in a Saturday Evening Post story. He wouldn't really fit in your own home town.

Then a man sweated and a girl got all dewed. The more sophisticated ladies admitted they perspired.

Then the more knowing fellows criticized the way a blacksmith shoed a horse. They could all do it better if they wanted to.

Then the undertaker always came to the first barber for a shave, and everybody was sure the second barber shaved the corpses. He was a man of close-mouthed mystery and had a romance about him.

Then the guy with the most gossip was the guy who went around the neighborhood cutting grass, pushing a muscle-propelled lawnmower. Only the kids still leered about the iceman.

Then a man would pay $7.50 for a fancy pair of shoes. He would let the fellow who pushed the lawnmower break them in. Then when he put them on himself, the first thing he would do would be to get a nickel shine.

Then a guy would dress up Saturday night, even if he did no more than whistle at the girls in his best clothes.

Then the daredevils courted on the front porch swing. A city street light always glared nearby.

Then everybody took patent medicines. The doses didn't cure anybody, but the hidden alcohol tranquilized the more respectable patients.

Then even in the city the frustrated farmer kept pigs and chickens in his back yard. The well-to-do had a pony. The hypochondriacs had their own cow.

Then a nickel would buy you a mouthful of cigar, and another nickel a schooner of beer and a bite at the free lunch bar. The actors wore gloves, pulled them off daintily a finger at a time, then assailed the free lunch with the restraint of a famished wolf consuming a distant relative.

Then, in the old days, growing up was very simple. Time went by, and all of a sudden all these things were no longer true, and you had become a man.

What you had been familiar with as a boy you no longer saw as an adult. All at once it was different.

Perhaps growing up is just as simple for those in that process today. Yet I am sure that the realization of change will come to them, as it does to all, with the impact of a body blow.

And nostalgia will haunt the highways of their bones to warm remembrance.

Ohioan Convicted On Two Counts Of Manslaughter

LEBANON, Ohio (AP) — Carl Lilly, 52, of Foster, a part time bartender, was convicted in Warren County Common Pleas Court Thursday night on two counts of manslaughter in the fatal shooting of two men outside the tavern where Lilly worked.

The shooting occurred last July 26.

The victims were James Harvey Sykes, 34, father of five children, and John Lewis Jr., 31, father of three. The men were neighbors in Loveland Park.

Lilly had been charged with second degree murder but the jury returned the verdicts on the lesser charges after having considered the evidence for more than seven hours.

Sykes and Lewis were shot to death shortly after they left the tavern. Lilly claimed he shot in self defense. He said he went outside the tavern to put a pistol in his automobile and the two men came at him, one of them with a knife.

Navy Seeks Countian After Drowning Report

Navy authorities are seeking a county youth and a companion from California, who may have staged a fake drowning in Florida Saturday to cover their trail and are absent without leave.

Charles L. Shreffler, 18, of Columbiana and Roland Carlton Large, 19, of Torrance, Calif., were first listed as missing when their empty rowboat was found anchored in shallow water a mile and a half north of Key West.

But a friend later reported seeing them hitchhiking north on U. S. Route 1.

Church Figure Dies

WASHINGTON (AP) — Charles S. Longacre, 86, former world official of the Seventh Day Adventists Church, died Thursday after an operation for removal of a tumor. He served for more than 30 years as director of the World Religious Liberty Assn. of Seventh Day Adventists. He was born in Valley Forge, Pa.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A former Massillon man, serving a prison sentence in the Marion Correctional Institution for manslaughter, will be paroled Dec. 19, the Ohio Pardon and Parole Commission announced Thursday. The prisoner, Daniel Jones, 53, was convicted of the fatal shooting of Lorenzo Snell during a fight in Canton, Aug. 15, 1956.

60 Filmstrips Now Available At Library For Borrowing

The Carnegie Public Library announced today that a library of filmstrips is being made available to local groups.

At present there are 60 strips in the collection, loaned on a 48-hour basis. The service charge is 25 cents.

Persons looking for program material for churches, scout groups, children's parties, and clubs will find them suitable, Miss Frances Jones, librarian, said.

For women's groups there are items for travel, interior decoration or parliamentary law. Children in the elementary grade levels may view strips on the solar systems, jet planes and birds and animals.

So far, the most popular filmstrip is the study of Dr. Albert Schweitzer's life. This has a recording for background which features the doctor playing the organ.

Another is a dramatization on the life of Kagawa, famous Japanese poet and philosopher. There is also considerable geographical material on the Middle East, a field of mission study during the curent church year.

Holiday material is being purchased for use in the Thanksgiving and Christmas season.

The library said materials must be booked in advance if specific subjects are needed. A filmstrip machine is also available for those who do not have access to the equipment.

Connecticut was the first U. S. state ever to have had a constitution, their "Fundamental Orders" being adopted by the three original towns of Colonial days in January of 1639.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Don't Let Child Make Bedtime Slave Of You

"Mama, Mama, Mama!" called the 3-year-old from the bedroom. The mother kindly went to the child's bedside. "I want a drink," said the youngster. She was given a drink, tenderly kissed and tucked in again. The mother went back to what she was doing. A few minutes later the familiar call came again, and again the mother went to the child. This time she heard "I'm hungry."

By Garry Meyers

—:—

THE MOTHER got the youngster something to eat and tucked her in with, "Now go to sleep, my dear."

"Yes, Mama," the youngster dutifully replied.

Back again to the living room went the mother, hopeing she would hear no more from the child.

There was no sound for nearly five minutes. Then the youngster called in a sleepy voice, and the mother went, a bit vexed.

But when the child said, "I want another kiss," her heart swelled and there was no rebuke.

There were still more calls, but after a total period of about an hour the child did fall asleep.

With some children, this bedtime practice continues till the age of five or six. I know of one child who at eight, is still doing it night after night.

AS THE tot grows older, he invents new wants for his mother or father to fill for him following bedtime.

Just to think out new excuses may keep the child wakeful a long while. And when all other "reasons" wear out, "I want to go to the toilet" proves successful.

Obviously this problem can become more exasperating when there's company, especially if a game must be held up till the child's whims are catered to.

Besides the mother's extra work and annoyance is the child's loss of sleep and continued dependence.

If you have this problem, go through all the usual ritual as you put the child to bed. Then ask him if he can think of anything more, reminding him that when you leave, you are not coming back unless there is a real emergency. Then go and keep your word.

When this advice was given at a parents' forum, a certain mother of of a child, 4, said: "I know it won't work. I tried it twenty times only last night."

My bulletin, "Sleep Problems," may be had by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of this newspaper.

Boy Loses Hand When Homemade Rocket Explodes

CLEVELAND (AP) — Sixteen-year-old Arbor Wayne Williams Jr. lost his left hand when his homemade rocket exploded Thursday night. It smashed his hand and drove copper fragments into his chest.

The youth was listed in critical condition at Marymount Hospital following surgery to amputate the hand.

A schoolmate, Dale Berniciak, 15, who stood four feet away, was untouched by the blast in the basement of the Williams home.

"I warned Wayne to leave the rocket alone, but he wouldn't listen to me," Dale said.

Berniciak said the victim was packing ingredients — saltpeter, sugar, sulphuric acid and powder taken from eight railroad signal bombs—into the eight-inch copper tube of the rocket with a head of a nail when the explosion occurred.

The rocket was similar to one which fizzled when the pair attempted to launch it the night before in a ravine. After that failure, Williams' father said:

"I warned Wayne to quit monkeying with rockets. . ."

The auto-parts plant employs about 4,500 workers.

Kickoff—7:45 p. m.
Place—Patterson Field.

One of the season's biggest crowds is expected at Patterson Field tonight where East Liverpool's Potters will shoot for their second victory of the year against a dangerous Steubenville Catholic Central eleven.

Kickoff time is 7:45 (DST).

For the first time this season, Potter coach Lou Venditti will be able to scan his bench and find nearly everyone ready for action.

—:—

TWO REGULARS who were out last week, halfback Dave Zelch and quarterback Bob Mackall, have recovered from injuries and probably will see full - time duty tonight, Zelch with the defensive unit and Mackall at offensive quarterback. The only ailing regular not scheduled to don uniform is tackle Mike Kapp.

"Dad's Night", arranged by Venditti and the Blue and White Nonpareil Club, will be observed, with fathers of team members introduced at halftime.

Everything points to another rugged game for the Potters. Central has breezed to victories in its last two outings after getting off to a dismal start early in the season.

Central's flashy halfback George Walkosky, who already has set a scoring record at the Jefferson County school with 10 touchdowns and an extra points conversion, poses a threat to the Potters' chances.

A SPEEDSTER, he is particularly dangerous on long passes and has reeled off several long touchdown runs on punt and kickoff returns.

The starting lineup for the Potters is virtually the same as last week, except at quarterback. Either Mackall or sophomore Ken Cunningham will handle the signal - calling, but Mackall is expected to get the nod as the result of his full recovery from a bruised hip received against Warren Harding.

Ron Prince has been bothered with an ankle sprain, but should go at left end, while Pat Cooper, the favorite target for Mackall and Cunningham passes, will be at right end.

At the tackles will be Craig Burbick and either Carl Ludwig or Bob Exton. Charlie Davidson and Jim Bise draw the guard slots. Ludwig has missed practice a few times this week because of illness, but probably will start, Venditti said. Rounding out the starting line is center Joe Leigh.

At the halfbacks will be Dave Goodballet, who scored a touchdown on a 65-yard runback of a punt against Bellaire, and Nick Musuraca, the Potters' defensive standout. Rugged Bill O'Neil has shaken off a recent injury also and will start at fullback.

CENTRAL, with a 3-3 record, has outscored the Potters in six games, 138 to 64, but hasn't been playing top - drawer competition.

Central's toughest opponents to date were Weirton and Midland. The Crusaders lost both games, but have rolled over Toronto, Mingo and Bellaire St. John's since. Opponents of Central have scored 88 points.

Handling punting chores for the Potters tonight will be Clifford Goodballet, 140-pound sophomore, who has looked exceptionally well in kicking and has taken over for Burbick.

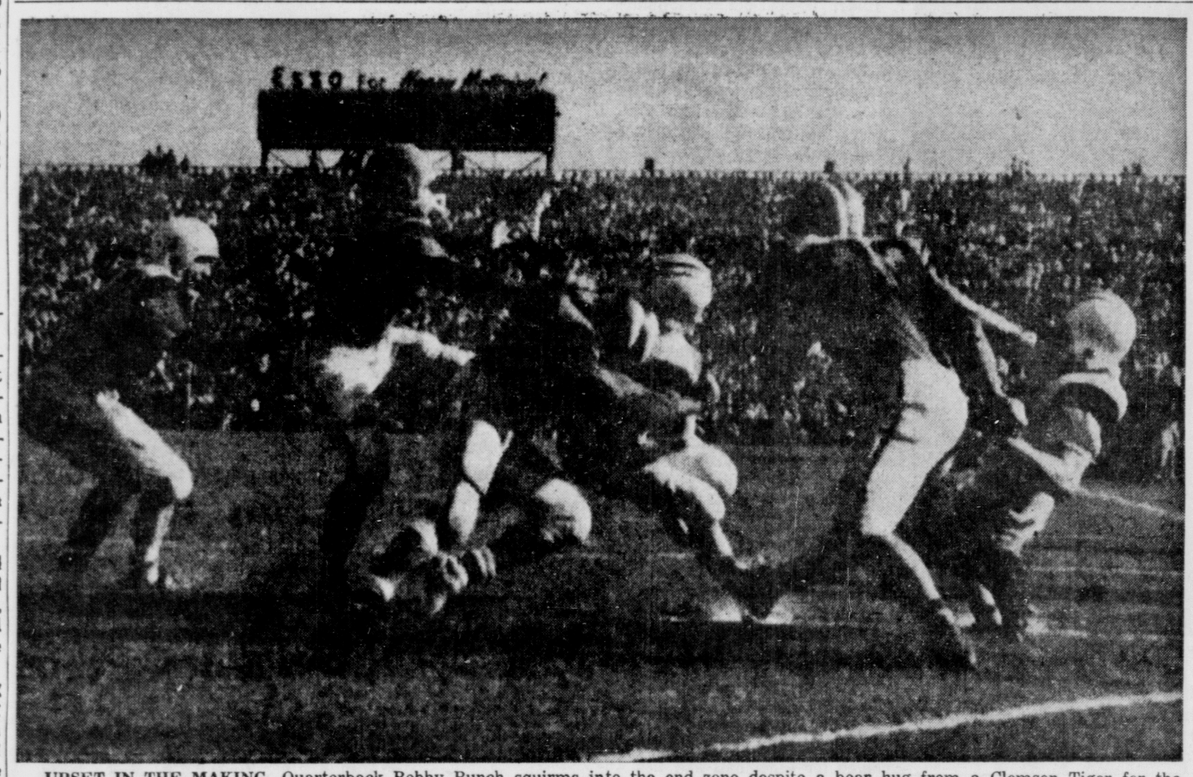

Venditti is also counting on seniors John McCullough and John Horger, sophomore end Tim Archer and junior Henry Roach for plenty of action tonight. Skip Hall, Ravenna Bell and Joe Thompson are also slated for early duty.

Band's Halftime Show Entitled 'Hi-Fi Fun'

East Liverpool High School's Marching Band, directed by Don Allen, will present a halftime show at the Potter - Steubenville Central football game tonight at Patterson Field based on the development of the phonograph. The show is entitled "Hi-Fi Fun."

New Cumberland Wins Final, 30-8, As Cullen Registers 3 Touchdowns

New Cumberland closed out its best football season since 1956 Thursday night by trouncing Mount Pleasant, 30-8, on the Ohioan's gridiron as senior fullback Phil Cullen scored three touchdowns and vaulted into a four-touchdown lead in the district scoring race.

Coach Charlie Miller's Raiders wound up the campaign with a 4-3-1 record after losing nine straight games last year. The Raiders finished on the winning side of the ledger in 1956 with a 4-3-2 record.

The Raiders breezed to a victory over the winless Mounties by scoring a quick touchdown in the first period and then adding four more in the second and third quarters.

Along with Cullen, Bill Freshour made his final game with New Cumberland a successful one by scoring a pair of touchdowns, one on a long run of 41 yards, while catching a touchdown pass from quarterback George Harris in a 22-yard operation.

Touchdowns came easy for the Raiders but each running attempt for the conversions was halted by the Mount Pleasant defenders.

Freshour's first score came early in the first period and the pass play in the second stanza gave New Cumberland a 12-0 lead. Cullen then took over and scored another touchdown in the second period, on a run of four yards and then added two more on short runs in the third period.

Mount Pleasant, loser of seven straight, scored its only touchdown late in the final period when Call raced 80-yards on a pass from the quarterback. The extra points conversion was netted by Sommers who skirted right end.

Cullen's 18 points gave him a total of 80 for the season and a margin of 25 points over his nearest competitor in the district scoring race. Bob Osterling of Leetonia, in second place, has a total of 55.

Besides Cullen and Freshour, four other seniors played their last game for New Cumberland. They are Ron Gordon, Ralph Chaney, Pete Dawson and Bob Swearingen. New Cumberland had a 13-7 edge in first downs.

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Two men have begun their second attempt to stay aloft two months in a light plane.

Bucs' Murtaugh Voted 'Manager Of The Year'

By ARNOLD ZEITLIN

CHESTER, Pa. (AP) — In the midst of congratulations over his selection as The Associated Press' Manager of the Year, Danny Murtaugh remembered another Pittsburgh manager today.

"Bill Meyer helped me an awful lot," the sharp-featured, 41-year-old Pirates manager said at his home here. "Toward the end of my career, I got to thinking about wanting to be a manager. Billy would let me sit next to him on the bench. He gave me all sorts of advice, told me why he did things.

"Bill was a good baseball man."

Murtaugh, former second baseman, who never played for a major league team that finished higher than fourth place, was named Manager of the Year Thursday for his feat of leading the unheralded Pirates into second place in 1958.

The 84-70 finish, eight games behind the pennant-winning Milwaukee Braves, was the Pirates' best since 1944. They finished in a tie for last place in 1957. It was Murtaugh's first full season as manager. He succeeded Bobby Bragan Aug. 3, 1957.

The stocky, 5-foot-9 manager played for the late Meyer in 1948, when the Pirates finished fourth and Meyer was acclaimed Manager of the Year. It was the only time in seven full seasons with the Philadelphia Phillies and the Pirates that Danny played on a first-division club. He played briefly for the Boston Braves in 1946.

Murtaugh started his managing career with New Orleans of the Southern Assn. in 1952.

He received 149 votes in The Associated Press poll of sportswriters and sports broadcasters. He became the first manager to be chosen in competition with managers of both leagues. Previously, the Associated Press poll selected one manager in each league.

Bill Rigney, of the third-place San Francisco Giants, was second to Murtaugh with six votes. Fred Haney of Milwaukee and Casey Stengel of the championship New York Yankees each collected five first-place nominations; Lopez received four, Jimmy Dykes, who finished the season at Cincinnati, Harry Craft at Kansas City and Joe Gordon, who completed the year at Cleveland, one each.

College Football Attendance Shows Gain Of 3.33 Per Cent

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

During the first half of the 1958 season, attendance at college football games has registered gains ranging from the moderate to the spectacular in all but four major conferences.

The over-all picture, in midseason statistics gathered by The Associated Press, shows a comfortable gain of 3.33 per cent. The average major college game this year has been played before 25,963 spectators, an increase of 811 over the average for a comparable period last year.

Only in the Big Ten, the Big Eight Missouri Valley and Southern Conferences has attendance declined. The dips range from 4.82 per cent in the Missouri Valley to 0.61 per cent in the Southern.

Biggest increase percentagewise was registered in the Skyline, where crowds have been 16.24 per cent higher. That's a matter of some 1,900 customers a game in an area that's rather sparsely populated.

Conversely, Big Ten crowds dropped more than 2,000 per game but in percentages it was only a 3.80 decline.

Many of the attendance figures given by the colleges were estimated and subject to revision at the end of the year.

A number of apparently minor factors had their effect on sectional changes. For instance, the University of Detroit played its first three home games on Friday night this year, instead of Saturday afternoon, and the extra 22,000 fans who turned out produced a sharp increase in the average for a small group of Midwestern independents.

The University of Wisconsin increased the capacity of Camp Randall Stadium and the larger turnouts there helped offset losses at Michigan, Illinois, Northwestern and Minnesota. Similarly a bigger stadium at Arizona State (Tempe) boosted the Border Conference figures.

Wellsville's Second-Half Rally Nips Jefferson Union, 18-12

Bob Delposen Leads Tigers In Rough Tilt

By ROB NIBLOCK

Bob Delposen, a battling red-haired fullback, scored two touchdowns, accounted for 88 rushing yards and was the inspiration for a Wellsville team which did all its scoring in a wild second half to defeat Jefferson Union, 18-12, at the Jackets' field Thursday night.

Still carrying bruises from last week's Salem game and taped extensively, the 190-pound junior turned in a performance that could be compared with those of an outstanding Wellsville fullback of a few years ago, John Henry Martin.

He averaged more than five yards per carry, lugging the ball 19 times, and was called on in every tight spot with regular halfbacks Pat Creaturo and Jim Stevens sidelined by injuries for the rest of the season.

TRAILING 12-0 at intermission, Coach Ken Woods team came to life midway through the third quarter and drove 45 yards for a touchdown. The Tigers then really caught fire in the final period, scoring two touchdowns with less than four minutes remaining.

A 53-yard run by substitute halfback Doug Thomas with only about two minutes to go put the Tigers in position at the Jacket 17 to break a 12-12 deadlock. In two running plays, Delposen crashed over for the score which gave Wellsville the victory. The Tigers now have a 2-4-1 record.

Wellsville avenged a 13-6 setback by Jefferson Union last year and played probably its best football of the season in the bitterly-contested second half, which was marred by frequent penalties and the expulsion of players on both teams.

It was the fourth loss in seven starts for Coach Nelson Garden's eleven, which completely dominated the first half of play, rolling up 196 yards to Wellsville's 80 and had a 7-4 first down edge on the Tigers.

Seven second-half penalties cost the Jackets 80 yards and the loss of probably their best ball-carrier, fullback Ray Martin, who was expelled from the game after being involved in a scuffle at the Wellsville bench.

THE JACKETS crowded all their scoring into the early minutes of the second period, with the first touchdown coming on the second play of the quarter. Jim Hartzell, 145 - pound sophomore halfback, swept his own right end 59 yards for the score. Dickinson attempted to pass for the extra points, but the ball was batted down by a Wellsville defender.

Just four plays later, the Jackets again had the ball and began another scoring march, featured by the running of fullback Ted Gillespie, who got the touchdown.

He moved the ball on a 17-yard jaunt from the Jefferson Union 39-yard line to the Wellsville 44. Four running plays later Gillespie plunged over for the score from the two, but was stopped on an attempted rush for the extra points.

The first time Wellsville handled the ball in the second half, it began a scoring drive at the Jacket 45-yard line.

Thomas carried five yards to the 40 and Delposen burst through a gaping hole in the left side of the Jefferson Union line and battered his way 16 yards through the secondary to the 24. Kiggans sneaked to the 21. Then in carries of 13 and 3 yards, Delposen moved to the 5 from where Euill scored. Kiggans' keeper attempt for the extra points failed.

LATE IN the fourth period the Tigers got a break when quarterback Glenn Dickinson was hit while trying a pitchout at the Jacket 25-yard line. Euill recovered the loose ball for Wellsville.

Delposen and Euill carried three times on dive plays which netted two first downs and placed the ball in scoring position at the five. But a 15-yard clipping penalty returned it to the 20.

Euill then punched to the 17. A 15-yard clipping penalty against the Jackets followed and Delposen tied the score with 3:45 remaining by plunging over from the two. Delposen was stopped on what then appeared to be the all - important extra points attempt.

However, Jefferson Union was halted after getting one first down following the kickoff and punted to the Wellsville 40. On the first play from scrimmage, Thomas scooted 43 yards on a slippery turf to the Jacket 17.

The weary Delposen, who had played the entire game, had still enough drive to carry the remaining distance in two attempts for the winning TD and was stopped only inches short on a rushing attempt for the extra points.

A desperation pass thrown by Dickinson at the Jacket 29 was complete to end Phil Judy at the Wellsville 10, but time elapsed before Jefferson Union could get off another play.

Tebbetts Becomes Titular Head Of Milwaukee Braves

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Birdie Tebbetts, who resigned as Cincinnati manager when the Redlegs were in last place, has become the titular head of the rich Milwaukee Braves baseball kingdom and probably will assume the crown permanently in a few years.

Hired as executive vice president by Milwaukee earlier in the month, Tebbetts held forth Thursday in his first press conference.

In a prepared statement, he said he joined the Braves because the club offered the job "I have been preparing myself for during my 25 years as a player and a manager."

Tebbetts was put on the payroll as an aide to Braves' President Joseph Cairnes, who said a Florida construction project will demand more of his time over the next 10 years. Cairnes established Tebbetts' status when he said:

"Birdie will head up the organization in my absence. He'll be responsible for it. Any trades must have the approbation of the president or the executive vice president in the absence of the president." He added that "maybe in a matter of years Birdie will be president of the ball club."

Tebbetts asserted he has adopted a strict policy of noninterference with the labors of Field Manager Fred Haney. Birdie said "I would refuse" if asked to take over the ball club "for two weeks in July if Haney got sick."

"I'm not going to prostitute my integrity by doing something to somebody I wouldn't want done to me," Tebbetts said. He said Cincinnati General Manager Gabe Paul "never came to my clubhouse without my invitation and he never talked with the players without my permission. That will be my philosophy."

"Haney is a very fine manager," Tebbetts said. "Any reports that we didn't get along are erroneous. As manager of the Redlegs, I was out to beat the Braves and any other opposition. There was nothing personal in it."

Handwriting's On Wall For College 'Hot Shots'

By JACK CLARY
Associated Press Sports Writer

The handwriting is on the wall for those college football hot shots who think it may be an easy weekend.

Previously undefeated and 10th-ranked Clemson lost 26-6 to South Carolina Thursday in their annual State Fair Game. Clemson also lost the Atlantic Coast Conference lead to Wake Forest, which has a 2-0 conference record and meets North Carolina Saturday. Clemson is 3-1 in the ACC.

The big game Saturday is at Pittsburgh, where unbeaten and top-ranked Army meets Pitt in a game regionally televised in the East. Pitt is a seven-point underdog but faces an Army squad which is minus starting fullback Harry Walters and whose star halfback Pete Dawkins is badly limited by a severe charley horse.

The Lambert Trophy, which goes to the Eastern champion, hangs in the balance.

In the Big Ten, second-ranked Ohio State, undefeated in four games, meets once-beaten Wisconsin, while undefeated Northwestern (No. 8) plays ninth-ranked Iowa (3-0-1). A victory for Northwestern and a loss by Ohio State would give the Wildcats a commanding 3-0 conference record.

The Southwest has its key game when fourth-rated Texas travels to Rice. Rice is 2-0 in the conference, tied with idle Texas Christian (No. 16), while Texas is undefeated in five games and 1-0 in conference play.

Third-ranked Louisiana State (No. 3), with a possible Southeast Conference title game next week against sixth-ranked Mississippi meets ever-dangerous Florida in an SEC game, while the Rebels play winless Arkansas in a non-conference tilt.

Auburn (No. 5) goes after a new win streak against Maryland, a three-time shutout victim.

Two Big Eight games pit ninth-ranked Oklahoma against Kansas State, while 12th-rated Colorado is a four-touchdown choice over Nebraska.

The Midwest regional TV game has Purdue (No. 15) at Notre Dame (No. 11) in the Irish's homecoming day.

Seventeenth - ranked Georgia Tech, raring to go after tieing Auburn last week, invades Dallas' Cotton Bowl to play Southern Methodist, while Navy (No. 18) travels to Philadelphia to meet Penn.

Boy Killed At Play

BATAVIA, Ohio (AP)—A game of tag along a roadside ended in death Thursday for Ernie Lee Swearingen, 10, of Cozadale. The boy was hit and fatally injured by an automobile as he ran into Ohio 28. He died after being taken to a Cincinnati hospital.

Hyde, Face Tops In Relief

NEW YORK (AP) —Dick Hyde, a sophomore submarine specialist who helped seal 48 per cent of Washington's victories, and little Roy Face of Pittsburgh were the top relief pitchers in the major leagues in 1958.

Hyde, 30-year-old right-hander, won 10 games and saved 19 others for the last-place Senators. He had an earned run average of 1.75 for 103 innings. Washington had a season's total of 61 victories.

Face saved 20 games for the Pirates, who finished a surprising second in the National League. The 5-8 right-hander also was credited with five triumphs in relief assignments. He wound up with an ERA of 2.89.

Ryne Duren, bespectacled relief ace of the champion New York Yankees, produced 19 saves and won six games in a fine rookie season. Duren struck out 87 batters in 76 innings and compiled a 2.01 earned run mark.

Figures compiled by The Associated Press also disclosed today that Clem Labine of Los Angeles saved 14 games and Leo Kiely of the Boston Red Sox and Marv Grissom of San Francisco 12 each. Grissom was traded to the St. Louis Cardinals earlier this month.

Dick Farrell, Philadelphia's fireballing right-hander, saved 11 games and won eight while losing nine. Don Elston of the Chicago Cubs also came up with 11 saves while Johnny Klippstein, who played for Cincinnati and Los Angeles, saved 10 and Hal Jeffcoat of Cincinnati, Gerry Staley of the Chicago White Sox and Tom Gorman of Kansas City nine apiece.

Conley's Signing By Celtics Draws Milwaukee Fire

BOSTON (AP) — Milwaukee Braves' pitcher Gene Conley has signed to toss a basketball for the Boston Celtics, but he also threw the fat in the fire with the baseball club.

The 6-foot-8 Conley, who played briefly with the Celtics during the 1952-53 season, signed his contract with the National Basketball Assn. club Thursday for an undisclosed amount.

In Milwaukee, where Conley had a disappointing 1958 season, Braves General Manager John Quinn said:

"What our action will be regarding Conley's flouting of a section of his baseball contract will not be determined until (president) Joe Cairnes, (executive vice president) Birdie Tebbetts and I have had a chance to sit down and thrash it out.

"To my knowledge," Quinn added, "there has never been a similar case to set a precedent."

Quinn said the standard one-year baseball contract signed by the big right-hander provides:

"The player agrees . . . he will not engage in any game or exhibition of football, basketball, hockey or other athletic sport."

Firemen Warn After Youths Set Prank Fire

Harmless Halloween pranks are annoying enough but the deliberate setting afire of a home can lead to arson charges against those responsible, firemen warned today.

Only the alertness of a youngster and the prompt action of his mother prevented a possibly serious fire Thursday night, firemen said.

Youngsters, apparently of high school age piled paper and leaves on the front porch of the William Snodgrass home, 817 Illinois Ave., and set the debris on fire.

A 4-year-old son smelled smoke and called his mother, who extinguished the fire before it gained headway. She then called police.

Police notified firemen and the officers and Asst. Chief James Pelley investigated.

Arson, or setting fire to an inhabited dwelling, can be punished with a 2-to-20-year jail term and those convicted cannot be placed on probation, firemen said.

Angler Safe After 5 Days Afloat On Raft

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) —A sea-weary fisherman reached safety today after five days afloat on a yellow raft, the last 24 hours with his dead skipper.

Alvin Turner was reported in generally good condition at Mound Park Hospital where he was taken for observation.

Rescue came too late for the captain of the Virginia Mae, Frank Devane. He died 24 hours before the fishing boat Jackie C. made the pick up 65 miles off St. Petersburg in the Gulf of Mexico.

The Coast Guard Cutter Nemesis docked this morning with Turner. The Jackie C. took Devane's body to Tampa.

Lt. Cmdr. W. G. Patridge, skipper of the Nemesis, said the Virginia Mae had broken up and sunk Saturday night during a storm.

Turner told Patridge the raft carried no food or water. They subsisted, he said, by catching fish with their hands.

The 50-foot diesel-powered craft was last seen Saturday afternoon about 80 miles off Cedar Key, headed northwest for Steinhatchee, the men's home, with 1,900 pounds of fish caught in the Gulf.

The raft was spotted about 90 miles south of that point by a search plane. The Coast Guard directed the two fishing boats to the scene.

Daring Motorist Gets Car Tag–Wrong One

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — John Broberg, TV station employe, lost his license plate while driving on a freeway. He heard it fall, but couldn't stop in the rush of traffic. So he drove sadly home.

Next day at the same spot, lo . . .license plate on the freeway. Traffic was lighter so he turned off, circled, and parked at freeway's edge. Dashing daringly between cars he grabbed the plate, crushed it to his breast, and like a halfback threaded his way back to his car.

Glancing down, he saw the plate wasn't his.

All Blood In Bull Rings Not From Bulls

EL PASO, (AP) — An El Paso sportswriter says all that blood in Juarez bullrings is not from slain bulls. "The promoters are cutting each other's throats with rival Sunday shows," he says.

An agreement, with each bull-ring running corridas on alternate Sundays, is expected. The pocketbook may be hit just as badly, but the blood pressure should be down.
